You who dwell here on earth in matter are exposed to particular dangers, therefore I give you My love and mercy to a special degree.

You have taken this path, the path across this earth. You have entered into darkness, into forgetfulness. I have covered you with divine power, the divine light, so that you are unaffected by My willpower, only very slightly touched by a distant light that kindles the longing in you in the darkness, the longing for liveliness and love. That is why I have led and guided you, My children, at all times and continue to do so, so that this light may grow ever greater and stronger, so that you yourselves may become light in the darkness, so that you may be the light in the darkness of this world.

And you have indeed already become light. Yes, you do not see to what extent I am already shining in and through you into the darkness of this world, to what extent I am already using you as instruments of divine power and love. You are bearers of the torches of love, as in a cave where everything is dark and gloomy. And when a torch is lit, it becomes light and you can see a little way; not only you yourselves, but others are also attracted by this light, they want to see which way we are going. And so you have become My co-workers in My vineyard, My children, well aware of your weakness and imperfection, to which you are still exposed.

But this keeps you humble. It is good when you admit your weaknesses and sins to yourselves. And to the thoughts: 'My God, why do You take me? I am an imperfect human being, I still have so many faults and weaknesses in me, I am not worthy to live in Your presence. I am not worthy to work for You in my weakness.' I say: It is precisely this admission that draws Me to you, My child. The admission of your weakness is the basic prerequisite for Me to be able to fill you with My Spirit, because then you do not fill yourself with yourself, but give Me space in this attitude of humility of knowledge and love.

So you are now born into this world, in this time, in this end-time phase, in this last time, as they say. And it is very important, My children, that you are already active in this time, as I just said. But the motive for taking the spiritual path should not be that you have merit before Me, but that you love Me, regardless of what is happening on the outside. Love for Me alone should be the motive for walking the path of truth and life. And even if the predicted events did not come to pass, ask yourself: 'What would it do to me? Would I be disappointed? Would I still follow the path so intensely? Am I really only concerned about my love for Jesus and everything else is secondary to me?

And also ask your heart whether it is already free from the world and completely focused on Me, in life and in death. Yes, if I were to say to you: My child, I will call you away tomorrow – what then? What would you think? Would you be free? Would you be full of joy at being with Me? Or full of melancholy at leaving this world? To let go of everything that still binds you to the world: your family, your job, your free time, your addictions - can you leave everything from one day to the next? Without melancholy, without pain, without worry? Free for Me? Are you ready?

That is why it is so important, My loves, that you free yourselves from all of this now. Because when I call you out of the body, the earthly bonds still continue to exist. And then it may be that you lose sight of Me, by looking back, by holding on. And then I must go from you again, because you do not want to or cannot go further by My hand.

Yes, many have already said, 'My Father, I am glad to be with You.' And then the time came and they could not let go of this world, of family ties, of the comforts, the pleasures to which they were still attached.

These are serious words, My children, with which you are to question yourselves as to where you stand and what is still needed in this time. Therefore, let go of the thoughts of the time in which you live, but take in this one thought: to become one with Me in love, regardless of all appearances. Out of and in this love, everything else will take shape. You will then look at the world with completely different eyes than you do now - with divine understanding.

As I keep saying, My children, it is all about love. I am the centre of your heart. Love draws you into this centre, unites you with Me, and together with Me you go out into the world again as new people. So shall it be. This is the only way. There is no other way to Me and with Me. Therefore, rejoice that I tell you this with these words, forcefully and truly.

You do have this longing within you so much to be secure in My love, regardless of everything that happens on the outside. Only that is true bliss: to be free from all attachments to this world, to be free in love, in which there is no longer any imperfection, but freedom, divine freedom - this is only possible in love, in My love. I call you to this, I draw you to this, I prepare you for this and to this, to make this happen.

It is My desire that you become even-tempered, even-tempered in love, that these ups and downs may end, this ebb and flow, this life and death. For I need children who stand on firm spiritual ground, who can no longer be harmed by any storm, who know that I am with them, who feel My power in their soul, in their hearts. This awareness, My children, I would like to give you. Everything you experience is designed to lead you into this realm of divinity. So that your soul and your being may be filled with this love and you may constantly move in this love, to bear witness to Me – then you are a witness to My love.

What does it mean to be a child of God in this world? I have not said and I do not say: I send you out and there will be peace wherever you go, but I said and say to you: You shall bring peace into the world. I did not and do not say: Everything will be love and light, but you go into darkness and you are to be the light where I put you. These words, which I once spoke to you and which I now speak to you, are firmly anchored in your soul.

From this, the awareness arose in you to live this childhood in God. In certain aspects of your soul you see what is needed in the area of neighbourly love. Forgiving is so important, as is patience with fellow human beings, and often also restraint when you are approached, and to speak of Me at the right time and proclaim My Gospel: Jesus Christ is love, only with Him is there life and truth and light.

You have already recognised all these aspects of childship to God and tried to live them. And on this path that you are now walking, in this way, I am indeed with you. On the one hand, in the moments when you feel secure in My love, when I embrace you, when I take you by the hand and we walk a part of the way together. And then there comes a time when I let go of you, when you walk alone. And then it is often the case that you fall into darkness with the worry: 'Jesus, I can't feel you.'

And yet I am with you, only I no longer make myself tangible and perceptible to you, but I sever the connection so that you may stand on your own spiritual legs and, in this apparent loneliness, use the divine strength within you to do My works, which you otherwise do at My hand, so that you may, in a sense, grow up spiritually. Of course it is still My strength that is then effective in you, and actually it is I in you who then works through you – but in the independence of your divine identity, which you are to be in eternity.

And then the time will come when I will always be visible to you. Namely, when you have realised your divine independence. Then it is no longer necessary for Me to make Myself invisible and for you to seemingly walk alone, but you can always be with Me, at My side, and we will walk this path into eternity together. But it is not yet time, My children. Therefore, do not wish to see Me too soon. Remain patient and trust that I am with you. It is important that this foundation of faith becomes ever stronger, nourished with trust and devotion through My Word alone.

Love one another as I love you. Be one in love, and you will form part of My body on this earth. And when differences of opinion arise, let it always be love that reunites you. Cast away everything that divides you and always choose love. For love is the means that unites you with one another and that unites you and Me.

Your task is loyalty. I take responsibility for what I call into being with you and through you. Be the children I have called and raised you to be. Be loyal to Me in love. Continue on this path together with Me, and our plan will succeed. For everything I call into being must ultimately succeed. It is always only a matter of time.
