

23–25. 05. 2025

The path of God is not a game; it is not an easy path. You knew this before you entered this body, before you came to this Earth. And you were equipped by Me with all the necessary instruments and talents, with the weapons of love and with the light of wisdom, deeply embedded in your hearts, so that on your journey through this dark valley called Earth, in your love for Me, this light would awaken in your hearts, burn brightly and show you the path you must follow and which you must now follow in order to reach this noble goal: to become and be a true child of God for eternity.

Thus, this creation is unique. Yes, I have already brought many creations into being... countless ones, for there was no beginning to creation. But all creations before this one, in which you now find yourselves, were a preparation for this present adventure: to create gods beside Me, so that you may rule the universe with Me, so that you may bring new creations into being together with Me, in bliss and perfection for all eternity. It is not possible for you to comprehend this; and yet it is a preview that expands your consciousness and motivates you to continue on this path in earnestness and truthfulness, so that you may reach your goal.

But that is not the main thing that should determine your life now. Rather, it is about entering into your true identity here and now, into the fullness of My love, so that you may serve Me in this time when the Antichrist rules the world, when darkness envelops this world in a seemingly impenetrable cloud of godlessness, in which you are and should be the light and the love.

So you did not come to this earth to live a good life, so that you may prosper on earth, but you came here to fight a battle for love, against all the obstacles that death on this earth presents to you. You came to this earth not only to hear beautiful spiritual words, but to put My words into action. Yes, My children, it is about action. It is about realising what I am telling you. And that is very simple, it is My teaching that I gave 2000 years ago and which I am also giving today with the same words:

Love Me above all else and love your neighbour as yourself. Do good to those who do not do good to you. Help those in need to the extent that you are able. Free your soul from its bonds to the flesh so that you may become free within yourselves to receive the Spirit from your hearts. Fight and struggle for the freedom of your soul with all the means and all the strength that I have placed within you. For only in this way can you enter into spiritual rebirth.

And so I said: It is not a game, it is not a pleasure to walk this earth, it is a hard, stony path, it is a struggle; but the reward, the result, is eternal. And this time on this earth is only a short time, a point in eternity, and yet so important, for this point determines your future.

And in this sense I emphasise: there are three heavens. There is the heaven of wisdom, there is the heaven of love-wisdom, and there is the highest heaven, the heaven of love, in which I Myself dwell in person. The centre of this heaven and life is My dwelling place, the Father's house, which represents My heart. You decide for yourselves to what extent you want to follow this path, to what extent you want to free yourselves from this world in order to live for love, to enter into My heart, into My house, in this love that I have placed within you.

I have looked into your hearts and there I see the desire to realise this very thing, this life in My presence already here on earth, and that you cannot actually imagine any other life in the spiritual world than being with Me in eternity. This is the reason why I have brought you together here. Yes, some of you do not yet see this longing so clearly within yourselves. But I look into your hearts, deeper than you yourselves can see. I know your hearts through and through, for I have taken you from My heart and your hearts are Mine.

You are the children of My love, whom I am now bringing together on this earth, so that I may reunite you with the one heart from which you were taken. That is your destiny. And yet, the will is free. I have given you free will, but I show you the possibilities that you have. And with all My divine power and support, I accompany you, guide you, protect you, so that you may reach this holy goal. And this, My children, shall already happen in this earthly life, that you may at least be prepared enough so that when you one day leave your bodies, you may enter into My house.

Yes, it is so that you are to enter here on this earth into the new city of Jerusalem, which is called the city of God and was once called so on this earth, and now represents the city of God in the spiritual world. Already here on this earth you are to be citizens of this city of Mine. For this city has long since descended upon this earth. And this city is the Word and is the Truth and is the Life of My Word and is the Life of the Truth and is Love. And when you enter the Kingdom of Love and make My Word alive within you, you enter at the same time into My Heart, and that is the house in which I dwell in this city.

My children, your soul must become still. In the silence you will hear the soft words that I speak to you in your hearts. In the noise of the world you have no opportunity to perceive this subtlety, this purity, this whispering of My Heart. That is why it is so necessary to go into silence, to tear yourselves away again and again from the world that demands so much of you and constantly draws you into its turmoil and noise and binds your love to the world, to points of reference in the world to which you have attached your love. And these things are not actually good for your soul.

And yet I also say: I am patient, there is still time, and yet it is so important to seek and find these quiet minutes and hours with Me throughout the day. Yes, sometimes you have to force yourself to step out of the world, just sit down and say a prayer, a quiet, short prayer, a free prayer, a prayer from the heart: 'Dear Father, here I am. I cannot find peace; the world is pulling at me, there is noise and unrest within me. Please come to me, lay Your hands on me, that I may find peace in the eye of the storm.'

And then wait a little while, My children, for then I will come, for it is a spiritual request and I always hear such requests. But you must take the first step. You must say this prayer, this short call to My Heart, and then you will be amazed, and you are already experiencing it, that I then enter your sphere, that you then feel My Presence, in which your heart feels love, and that is Me. And then your soul is pacified, then you become calm and enjoy for a while this peace that comes over you. And in the strength and courage and love that then fill you, you go out into the world.

And I also know that you resolve to do this again and again ... and yet it is neglected. You have this to do and that to do, and then this comes up and that worry and that thought, and before you know it, the time is gone. It is wasted time, for there is nothing more important in your life than to enter into My presence. Everything else is secondary. Carry this in your consciousness and take this quiet time, in which you also feel a piece of eternity, in which you experience the immortality of your soul, which then rises up within you and you feel it alive: 'I am immortal. This body that I carry is only the instrument for this earthly life. I am a spirit being and not a flesh being.'

Such thoughts then enter your consciousness, and all these thoughts help you to let go of the world a little more and to step back from everything that causes you worry and fear, everything that burdens and oppresses you. And so it goes step by step, always a little closer to Me. More and more often you will then enter into this divine presence and you will marvel and say: "Dear Heavenly Father, why did I not do this earlier? Why did I not take this time much more often to be with You? Now I recognise its value." So it will be and so it is, My children. Therefore, keep these words in your hearts.

It is indeed beautiful to hear spiritual words. One enjoys them, there is a certain feeling of superiority, a spiritual sensation that gives one pleasure. And yet I say: All this is of no use to you if you do not put it into practice. And unfortunately, it is often the case with My children that they put on a cloak of piety, believing that they are living a spiritual life because they find themselves in spiritual words and enjoy them. But, My children, that is not the path you must follow. It is solely a matter of putting into practice everything you hear, of realising spiritual life, so that I may become alive in you through the deeds you perform together with Me.

And so, My children, the time has now come: This year is a special year in the decision for the world and in the decision for My children. The separation of spirits is becoming more and more intense. Increasingly, the wheat is being separated from the chaff. Everything will come to a head in a certain way. And I will also speak to you within yourselves and urge you, and you will know: 'Now is the time when I must let go of this and that, when I must say goodbye to these attachments, to this habit, to this addiction, and also to this or that person, so that I can continue on the path with and towards Jesus, free and unbound.'

Yes, in future I will demand more of My children. But the hardship will also help you to do this. The hardship that will come upon this earth will separate you even more from the world, will help you to detach yourselves even more from material thinking, from all the false worldly attitudes and godless earthly pursuits. I will detach you from all of this so that your souls may become completely free in love for Me and I can fill you with My Spirit. Yes, the last steps will probably only be taken when great hardship comes upon this earth. For then, My children, the last chains of your soul will be broken.

When the cry for help rises from your hearts: "Dear God, I can only endure and experience what is happening now if I am very close to You," and then, when you cling to Me, My children, I can set you completely free. And then two worlds will come into being, the world of death and the world of life. And you will then be citizens of the world of life and will see death through My eyes, which is also necessary.

Enduring the events of the coming suffering and death is only possible together with Me. Otherwise, you too would fall away from Me and say, "No, dear Father, I do not understand how You can allow such a thing!". But together with Me, when I explain and describe to you why this is happening and why it is necessary, then you will be able to endure it and then you will also be able to remain in peace and tranquillity in view of the events of the last days.

But now, My children, these are to be days of joy, and we do not want to dwell on this foundation of suffering, but rather it should be a blessed weekend. I want to give you words of love that touch you, that lift your hearts, that bring you a big step closer to Me. This is the divine plan for these days, for this time, so that you may then leave this place with a joyful heart, saying: "Dear Father, the days You have given us have filled me with Your Spirit. Now I feel a love within me that I have not felt before. Now I feel a peace within me that I did not know before."

Yes, My children, it is in My power to give you this. Therefore, open your hearts and enter into this trust, into this surrender. I have all power in heaven and on earth. Everything is possible for Me, My children. And when you open your hearts, I have the power to fill them with My love. For how many people are there on this earth who are ready to come to Me and say: "Dear Father, here I am. I am ready, my heart is open to You."

Oh, My children, there are not many. But you are ready. And so it shall be. Therefore, rejoice. I bless you, My joy shall also be your joy. My love shall be your love.

I have brought you together to prepare you, to bring you a little closer to Me and also to tell you: My children, many of you have existed for infinite periods of time, you have wandered through eons, both in the spiritual world and in the subtle-material world. But everything that has happened so far in your existence on this side and on the other side was a preparation for what is yet to come, here and now and in eternity.

Now that you have put on an earthly body and have begun your service for Me, it is important that you enter into the consciousness that true life is only now beginning for you. That all your experiences over eternal periods of time are now gathering here in this earthly life, in this brief yet so important moment of your infinite existence, and that you recognise the importance and necessity of continuing on this path to its ultimate conclusion, regardless of your age, for that is irrelevant, since your time is in My hands.

And so every child of My love is placed in the space and time it needs to complete this path together with Me. And yet, for you, time shall end in time. Yes, I want to lift you up in time into the consciousness of eternity, into the consciousness that you are immortal spirit beings, so that your identification with the body is dissolved, so that you see the body as a necessary instrument and not as the purpose of life.

And that you recognise that when a child gives itself to Me and has set out to follow My ways, I then place the life of this child in My Heart and everything necessary flows to this child in the stream of God's merciful love. Then I will take you out of the law and place you in My merciful love according to your efforts to follow Me and keep My commandments in love for Me and, from this, for your neighbour. This is the commandment of the hour. I lead you into this space. You are now in this space together with Me, here in this place where I now stand as God, the Almighty and yet Father to My children who love Me.

And so it is in the world: a ruler over a country has many subjects and citizens who respect and honour him and have respect for the king, for the president, and regard him from a distance and cannot approach him. But when the president or the king comes home to his wife and children, do the children see him as the president or the king?

No, they see their father.

And whether he is king or not does not matter to the children. They love him because he is their father, and the wife loves her husband first and foremost and only then respects him in his leadership role. And so it should be with you, My children. Love Me first because I am your Father, and in this recognition, in this love for Me as your Father, you will also find God in Me.

And so I bless you on this day, which is to be a day of joy, on which I open My Heart wide so that the healing ray of love may flow forth to alleviate your physical sufferings and weaknesses. For you know that I have the power. And yet it is so often necessary to allow certain sufferings, to allow certain influences from the lower spiritual world. But not to make you suffer arbitrarily, for everything has a meaning and purpose which you often do not understand.

And when you are once freed from all that burdens you, you will look back and see and say: "Thank you, Father, for working on me in this way, that I was able to attain this freedom of humility with Your help." This is what you will say, My children. And so you can already speak this way now, if you have this trust that I am a perfect God, that I make no mistakes and that everything has a divine reason in order to prepare for you the greatest possible happiness in eternal life: to dwell in My house forever, as I already mentioned yesterday.

Yes, I am bringing together the children of My Heart. There is no soul here that does not have the goal of one day dwelling in My house. Yes, I am bringing My children together, and not the people of the world who want nothing to do with Me. I also offer Myself to them, but they do not want Me. On the contrary, they despise Me and deny Me. I cannot give them anything; I leave them as they are. I leave them their free will.

But to you, My children, I give all that they do not want. Yes, My house is full of gifts that I would like to distribute to all people ... everything that I have and am. But only a few want it, and those are you, My children, you have entered into this desire, you will receive My gifts and live in My love for eternity.

So these are My words for now on this day, which are to penetrate you, which I place deep in your hearts, so that they may remain in your consciousness. So that you may also live in these words which I speak to you from outside. But I also speak to you from your hearts. First as impulses like your own thoughts, and when you become quieter and quieter and withdraw more and more from the world, you will become aware of My Word within you. And that is also My need, My children, to converse with you, like two best friends, like brother and brother, like brother and sister, like father and child. That is My divine need.

And what joy there will be within you when you hear My Word. But it is not that I then clothe the Word in acoustics, but it is the soul of the Word that you receive within yourselves. This requires practice, for you then clothe My Word with your consciousness, with your being, and receive it accordingly. Then My Word corresponds to the structure of your soul in the unity of divine Being.

So everything always fits together. Everything I do, everything I work, is bathed in perfection. And so today I will place every thought of yours, every word you speak, deep in My Heart. All your needs, all your joys, everything you carry within you will be bathed in divine Light today. And according to the openness of your hearts, all your thoughts and words will be permeated with light and love from and within Me.

For I want to bring you joy, My children, in this dark world. In this valley of death through which you are passing, I want to be your light, I want to guide and accompany you today and beyond, until you one day leave this earthly path to enter My Kingdom, into My Heart.

I am now speaking of hardship. Not only the hardship in your struggles that you have just described, but a great hardship will come upon this earth, upon the entire globe. A hardship that people have brought upon themselves, but this hardship, My children, is a necessity, for hardship teaches prayer, and hardship has the power to lead people into humility. And so this hardship will be a lifeline for some, so that they may turn to Me in their cries for help and their painful circumstances. And for others, this hardship will be the stairway down into even darker realms of their souls, but not on this side.

And so the spirits are increasingly divided. More and more will be demanded of My children, both in giving and in letting go. And those who have bound themselves completely to matter, who have merged their hearts and their love with matter, will descend deeper and deeper into their misery, for they do not want My help. They love darkness, and I let them. It is their decision.

But once again My call will resound across this earth and My Word will be proclaimed, the Word of the last days, which I will proclaim through My apostles and disciples of this end time, and through them I will shake people into reflection and repentance. But just as the door closed in the ark back then, so too will the gate to the safety of My Heart close, and then it will be too late for many.

And yet, even when evil will have already broken upon this earth, as it was in Noah's time when the waters were already rising, they will continue to revel in the frenzy of their passions and in the depths of their transitory lusts, not realising that they are about to drown. In their earthly frenzy, many will ignore the unstoppable floods of spiritual death; they will continue to enjoy themselves on the luxury liner called Earth, but it will sink and they will go down with it.

Some of you, My children, are called to proclaim this call at the right time, then to tell people what is coming. And I will equip you with the power of the word, so that the spirit you pass on in the word will have the power to touch hearts. I will also equip you with the healing power of My love, especially among yourselves, so that even those who are still suffering physically will be freed from this burden, so that they too can carry out My will, unburdened by physical suffering.

All this is yet to come, and all this I will bring about through those who remain faithful to Me, who place their entire trust in Me, who live their devotion to the very end. They will be the bearers of My Spirit, to whom I will open everything and hand over everything, and they will walk on this earth in My Will and do everything that I Myself would do, and they will form My Body on this earth.

The time of your passing is entirely in My hands; I determine when you go and how, not the world. I also determine the time of the judgment, and I determine the extent of the judgment in regional and global terms. Therefore, be free from the burden of what will happen on this earth; be free from any burden concerning your environment and your families, for everything you give Me will be immersed in divine perfection and will be completed sooner or later.

What then do you still fear? What can still burden you when everything in you and around you is in My perfection? But I see thoughts rising in your souls: 'Yes, dear Father, what should I do then? Where is the boundary between what You do for me and what I should do myself? And I say: My children, let us accomplish things together, hand in hand. Do not sit down and say, "The Father will do it." No, we must work together. It is a cooperation between God and man.

It is absolutely necessary that you still have to deal with worldly things, be it with authorities, at school, with the children, at work; this cannot be avoided. But take Me with you, do it together with Me. Let us go together, My children, let us work together, then they will be divine deeds. Let us become one, individually among brothers and sisters and in the totality of My presence with you and in you.

But take time for yourselves in your everyday lives, I say this again and again, even if you have to force yourselves out of the hustle and bustle of everyday life. There is nothing more important in your earthly existence than to enter into My presence. From this comes everything you need. Everything you need is contained in this. In this, every burden is dissolved. In My presence, there is no burden for you, for I have carried the burden for you and I carry it now. Give it to Me. Give Me your heavy hearts. I am ready, I will take them and I will give them back to you in the lightness of My love.

My children, you live in the confidence that every word I speak here and everywhere is always the truth. Yes, as God, I cannot speak words that will not come true and that are not already true, and so accept them in this sense. It is not on the surface, but in the depth of My words that truth touches you. It is not the shell of the word that gives you certainty, but the spirit in the depth of the word, which is divine life, whose source is love, that gives you the certainty of the fulfilment of My word.

My return is a big topic. It is a topic of conversation in many groups and communities around the world. For most, however, it is theory and not reality. Many speak of it, but only a few truly believe in My return. And, My children, there are two kinds of My return, one of which is not actually a return, but a realisation. For I have already said it and I say it again and again, and yet you see it and hear it: I have already come. I have come in the Word, and the Word is I Myself; I speak Myself out to you. And so I say: Do not wait for Me, for I am here – become aware of My presence.

Yes, I will no longer depart from your side. I go with you, as your guardian spirit accompanies you through life, so I am your companion, and you can invite Me into your consciousness at any time. And so you shall be in My presence and prepared for what is yet to come. You are the forerunners, you are the pioneers of My love. You pave the way, you open doors for the people whose names I call.

And finally, I will also come in My divine power and glory. And this will not be a celebration of joy for the world, for My strict hand must once cleanse this earth. The time has come; things cannot go on like this, My children. You see it yourselves; it is a tragedy. And yet I have allowed it; yes, it is a necessity in these last days when the gates of hell, of the demonic world, have been opened.

Demons are evil people who have died, cunning and driven souls who once lived on this earth and who now exert their evil influence on people from the dark realms of the beyond. And some of them have incarnated once again in order to pursue their cruel nature in the service of the spirit Satan.

But I have placed you, My children, in places of refuge; I have led you out of this circus of vanities and the world of pride and hatred. But you see, even in these places of refuge you still have to fight, and this is the preparation, for you are all in the space of My mercy.

But know this: all the suffering you still have to bear, all the physical and mental pain you are still exposed to, will soon come to an end. For I need children who are free from all hardship, so that they can serve Me in this freedom, in this detachment from the body, and also free from mental burdens, worries and fears. All this must depart from you.

Yes, and so I lead you into this time in this place of protection, in this preparation in My presence. And I add: Do not wait expectantly for the last event to occur and for Me to stretch out My judging arm over this earth. That only distracts you from what is to be and is now. I will come, the child must be born, every birth happens at some point ... and sometimes a little later. But for you, now is the time of birth.

I hear your cry: 'My God, dear Father, please come soon, that the evil deeds on this earth may come to an end! And I say: Be patient, you too need a little more time to prepare. And yet I rejoice in your cries, for they confirm your longing for truth and your love for Me.

And so be blessed now with these words of Mine.

When you go your separate ways again, I am with you and always unite you in My Spirit. And when you live in My love and think of one another, this heart connection between two siblings or between several and many arises automatically. And the brother or sister will feel this impulse within themselves: "Ah, this sister is thinking of me right now. This brother is praying for me."

Yes, intercessory prayer for one another is so important. Pray for yourselves, My children, when you know that this brother or sister needs prayer. This kind of neighbourly love is so important. Not only for the one for whom you pray, but when you pray, I am the one in you who sends out this spirit of healing. And a union arises in My Spirit. And then the prayer flows out of you as if by itself. And you are filled with joy and love. Yes, My children, thus the door of infinity has opened a little crack for you, and you have gained insight into the great space of creation, and yet it is only a point in infinity, a nothing in comparison to the divine existence.

And this space of infinity is contained within you, and when you go further and further into this space within yourselves, you simultaneously enter and exit the outer space, for these two spaces are identical.

But this brief glimpse should also motivate you to work hard on yourselves in order to attain this state of divinity at My side. You have the best prerequisites for this; everything is laid out within you so that you can achieve this goal, individually and collectively.

And so, My children, these are My words now in conclusion. I bless you, I permeate you with My love. I say to you once again, I write it in your hearts in large letters: I love you. Amen.
