

21.06. 2025

People of Earth, I call you, I have come to lead you into the kingdom of love. I have come to redeem all darkness and all gloom and all distress. You need only open the door for Me, believe that I am God, the Almighty, and let Me into your souls. Then I will have access, then I can work in you and around you and guide you and lead you through this world, through this valley into which you once entered to serve Me here, to attain here the sonship of God.

And that is not easy, My children, it is a steep path, it is a thorny path, the deification of the soul is not something that can be done on the side, it is a life task that requires all your soul powers. You must give Me back all the courage and trust that I have placed in you, and live in this devotion, that I am your heavenly Father and that I will guide, lead, and protect you at all times according to your trust and love for Me.

These are the words that I speak again and again: Trust, devotion, firm faith that I always keep an eye on My children, that I know everything. I know your deepest thoughts, I know your fears, your pains, your needs, I know everything, and I allow everything; not because I like to see the suffering of My children, but because everything that happens is an act of divine mercy:

The preparation of the soul, so that you may one day be children of My house, so that you may enter into My heavens, which I have built for you and for so many who will come after you and for so many who have come before you and who are now also looking into this room, your brothers and sisters. Yes, once again the heavens have opened and descended to this place where I stand.

And as you walk through this dark valley, always be aware that you have come here of your own free will with the request: "Dear Father, let me go to this earth, I want to serve You in this dark valley, I want to be a light of Your love, I want to take everything upon myself for You, because I love You so much, my God and Father."

These were your words, My children. And those who did not yet know Me as their Father, who came down from the starry worlds, have set out to recognize Me here as their Father. You knew Me before as the great Spirit, as the God in the inaccessible light. And now you are on your way to meet Me in person, and you have already met Me and are meeting Me in the Spirit of the Word, which I am as the personal God in Jesus Christ. And together with Me you will enter My kingdom forever.

But you must already realize heaven on this earth, My children, for where you will go when you leave your bodies is the space in which you now stand: your sphere, in which your soul resides, is your hereafter. And when you lay down your bodies, this sphere will become visible around you, and then you will be in the place that your consciousness forms at the moment of death, where your heart is and where your love is—that is where you will go, My children.

That is why I say: The realization of the city in heaven must already take place on this earth. Here and now you create your own heaven, into which you will then be allowed to enter together with Me. And that is why it is so important to do everything in this earthly life to realize this. Everything that happens in the material world is an instrument for the realization of the life plan that you brought here to this earth.

Everything else that happens around you in the world, your worries about your job, your family, money, your health, you carry all of this with you, but all of it serves to bring you closer to Me, ever closer to My heart, so that you may one day enter into My love. That is why you have come here. This is the only reason for your existence and the existence of all on this earth: the release of the divine spark within you, the rebirth into the spirit of My love.

And you say: 'There is still so much evil and sin in me, dear Father, I cannot see that I will achieve this goal. I have so many thoughts within me that separate me from You. There is still so much darkness here, so much pain too. How can I say, 'I have heaven within me'... dear Father, I do not see it.

And then I say: My child, your sincerity, your good will, and your truthfulness are enough for Me. I want to see that you make an effort and strive and take your path seriously and also take My words seriously and put them into practice, charity, all of that I want to see. But I will bring about your perfection.

I will perfect you, My child. You will attain a certain degree of perfection through your efforts. But I once said: I will meet you more than halfway, and so I do, and so I have already done. I have met you more than halfway on the path you are now standing and walking on. I extend My hand to you, I give you My Word; take it and make it alive within you.

Yes, this world is indeed a prison into which you have entered. You have put on a body; you are spirit beings, trapped in a heavy and fragile body, and in this body you must walk upon this earth, and this body causes you hardship in many ways. But I have long since opened the prison in which you find yourselves. I have built the bridge from matter to spirit within you. You cannot do this yourselves, My children; this bridge already exists. You only have to walk across it, through the open door onto the bridge where I stand and wait for you with open arms.

How was it once with Peter? He was imprisoned in a dungeon, he was bound in chains. Then I sent an angel—an angel is a thought of Mine—who broke the chains, opened the dungeon door, and the walls of the prison disappeared, and Peter was able to walk out of this prison freely and joyfully. And so, My children, I will do the same for you, and I have already done so. And another image: as I once called out, “Lazarus, come out of your tomb!”, so I call out to you. I call each one by name and say, “My son, My daughter, come out of your tomb!” And yet another image is the resurrection that I have placed in you through My resurrection.

And so everything is prepared. I have done everything for you, My children, so that you may reach your goal. I am ready, and you are ready too. And so we are a community ready for union in the love that I have formed and that I lead and guide. This little flock, which is growing ever larger, and the members of this flock, whose hearts are becoming more and more filled with My spirit of love. And this unity of love is already a piece of heaven on this earth where I have placed you.

So you see: you already have one foot in heaven. And I said: you will be perfected in My grace. And then it will not be so far away, so much, or so difficult when everything is prepared and when I complete it. Therefore, remain faithful to Me in love at all times. Give Me your hearts. Give Me your bad thoughts too, I will cleanse them and give them back to you. Give Me your impatience, then I will place you in the space of eternity, where no time presses you.

And so it is something wonderful. But many of My children still have not understood what is actually happening here on this earth. This special time of My return, which I have announced. 2000 years ago, I already said: I will come again and I will cleanse this earth and I will establish My Kingdom of Peace. Now the time has come. And you, My children, have entered this time in the awareness that this is so. The memory has been covered up, and yet I tell you now and here in this room: You are called to serve Me in this time and to establish this Kingdom together with Me. First in your hearts and then in the world.

Therefore, let none of you think yourselves too small with the words: “My Father, I do not feel worthy to be a worker in Your vineyard. What can I do for You?” For I say: My child, I have called you.

I have called every child who is here in this room, and every child everywhere who longs for Me in their heart. Yes, I have called and appointed you for a very special and specific reason. Your task may be to work in the spiritual world through prayer alone, to connect with Me in silence and to pray together with Me.

And from the words of this prayer, a wave of light is formed, reaching far out into the world. And I place another child in the word to proclaim My love and also My return. And another child works alone through charity in his small environment; he too is an apostle of My love. And all together they form My body.

And when all My children are fully prepared, this body will be united. What is now still separate will become one. And that is Me in you and through you. That is My return. And those who have opened their hearts completely to Me, who have realized their love completely in Me, will also see

Me spiritually, and I will show Myself to them in My spiritual body, just as I am standing here now. (Jesus shows His wounds.)

So I will then stand before you, and then you will also recognize the depth of these wounds ... what they mean. What it means that I have accomplished this work for each and every one of you. And then I will open My arms wide and take you into My arms, My son and My daughter. Then you will be home. Amen."

Jesus speaks: "As a heavenly Father, it is a need for Me to reveal My love, to show My children how much I love them. Just as an earthly father or mother feels the need to take their children in their arms, to hold and rock them, to caress them, and just as parents feel comfortable in the presence of their children. And so it is with Me.

But there are so few on this earth whom I can and could gather around Me. And now I am with you and gather you around Me. And yet it is also true that I cannot only give you loving words, but also serious words, so that you may recognize the importance and necessity of this incarnation on earth. Again and again I emphasize it and again and again I say emphatically how important it is to walk by My hand, to let go of the world, to turn away from the things that the people of the world like to occupy themselves with, for you live a different life.

To be faithful to My love is the highest commandment. And your faithfulness determines My faithfulness to you. The measure of your loyalty determines the measure of My loyalty, in that I can guide and lead you, in that I have access to your sphere, to your earthly environment. All this is accomplished through love for Me. And this love, My children, is not always so easy to open up. When you go through life hurried and burdened, My love is often far away and seems unattainable. And then I say, and I have given you these words many times before, repeat them again and again: "Jesus, I love You. Jesus, my love and my life and my everything, I love You." When you say these words, My children, you will feel a warmth rising in your hearts, you will feel your hearts opening.

And then the thoughts that burden you will depart from you. Then you will feel a freedom in your soul, a lightness, when the love that you have called for and for which you have made yourselves ready, permeates you from within. And these words and this love will then take you out of time and place you in a peace that the world does not know, in a detachment from all heaviness, from all suffering, from all pain.

'Jesus, my love and my life.' These words, My children, are the gateway to My heart for you. And here we meet in this embrace that knows no words; yes, this is the wordless space where only the soul of the word can be understood. The shell of the word cannot exist there; one cannot express what happens then. One can only sense and feel this encounter with God. It is something wonderful to be able to experience this already here in the body on this earth.

But I also speak the serious words that are necessary for you, mentioning the danger that you may turn away from Me. Yes, I have given you freedom; the demonic influences can no longer approach you as they approach the people of this world and seduce them. I have placed you in the light of truth, and you can recognize the danger that emanates from darkness. In mindfulness, you recognize the lie that rules this world.

What you still lack and what can harm you, My children, are the things that you yourselves do not want to let go of. The power of habit binds you to the past. But the past has no place in My present. Therefore, let go of these thoughts. Give Me what you bring with you from the time you have lived through. You must leave all that behind. A new human being must be created in My love, in which there is no place for all the junk ... you must let go of the unnecessary ballast to which you cling.

You must enter into this freedom so that I can lead you further. For now the time has come when the spirits will once again be divided, even among My children. There are those who cling desperately to their old selves, and then there are those who recognize: "Yes, dear Father, I see that this and that keeps me away from You. I recognize what binds me to matter and prevents me from entering into Your Spirit. Please help me to let go of this, so that I may be free for You.'

My children, this is a very serious matter. Take this step now, at this time, for time is pressing. Everything will happen very quickly, and you must be free for My love, also for your own sake, so that you can endure the events that are still to come in this world. It will not be easy. But you should not enter into this space of despair into which many people will enter. You should remain free, free in My love, moving in the darkness that now envelops humanity.

There you should be the light and an example in faith, so that people may recognize and say: "Yes, why is this person so cheerful in the face of death? Why is this person not afraid of this illness or this war? Why does he always have a joyful heart and a peace that I can feel?" This is how you should be, My children, when distress comes upon this earth and also upon you in this country. And then many will think: 'I want to have this peace too.' In the distress in which they then find themselves, they will grasp at every straw, and I am also a straw through you.

And so this is one part of the preparation, the seriousness and the necessity that I have now communicated to you. And on the other hand, there is the joy of love in which I place you and which I testify to you as your heavenly Father in Jesus Christ. These two components must work together. And love alone has the power to realize this seriousness in love in such a way that the two become one.

So that you may move together with Me, in My love, across this earth, like a rock in faith, steadfast in every temptation; and that you may no longer be annoyed by the people of this world and what is happening here, but may see everything through My eyes, with the eyes of mercy, but also with the eyes of necessity in times of need. For need is also an instrument of My mercy. And when war comes, many people will pray; when a plague comes that will indeed take many lives, then you will need My consciousness to survive in all things.

And that is also what these meetings are for. For the word that I speak here also goes out into the world and reaches and touches many of your brothers and sisters. This is the preparation of My army; it is for all those who form My body in this time.

You are still imperfect children of My love. And yet, if I did not always direct this ray of mercy upon you and did not have this patience and forbearance with you, no human being would ever attain the noble goal of deification. That is why I am a forbearing God.

Much of what you do that is not good, I wipe away, neutralize, and renew you in this ray of grace and mercy again and again, every day anew I cleanse the past for you, give it to Me. Yes, you may always move in your imperfection in My love. I have cleansed everything for you on the cross.

I have taken away all imperfection for you. Everything you do now that is wrong, even lies or whatever it may be in thoughtlessness, I have borne and atoned for you. I do not hold anything against you, for everything has been borne. I write your sins in the sand, and the sea of My mercy washes over them and erases your sins, making them invisible.

In My eyes, you are always pure and free. That is how I see you, that is how I treat you, that is how I walk with you. That is Me, God. I am love. I cannot do anything but love. That is My essence: love. And so are you, for you are taken from this love. You too, in your innermost being, in your divine personality, are pure divine love: My children.

My children, I am the altar on which you lay your worries. I am the flame on the altar into which you place your worries. I am the power and the strength that transforms everything, that leads everything to good. And so it is so important to have this faith that it will happen. But it is not a matter of time and transience; I use My power and become effective solely for eternal life. Everything temporal is brought into eternal life and not back into the temporal. Thus, all time ultimately serves eternity. And so know this: I take all your requests, your intercessions, and your wishes into My love. But the effect and the result are not children of time, but fruits for eternity. Therefore, do not quarrel and doubt when an intercession is not immediately fulfilled, but always remain trusting and patient.

Yes, when My child asks Me for something, I always hear him and accept every request. But if I were to fulfill a request immediately, this desire would be swallowed up by the transience of matter. And so it should not be. Everything must be led into eternal life. And so your requests are often 'only' the seeds that you sow in My love. Yes, every word and every thought that you think and speak in compassion for a human being is a thought and a word for eternity and not for time. Thus I testify to you My love, open My Heart to you, so that you may know that your requests are important to Me, and that My joy lies in the happiness of My children, but for eternity and not for time. Everything that is happening now on this earth serves eternity, both in the small personal sphere, in the small space of the family, as well as in the totality, in the globality of this earthly world.

If healing is to occur, if an illness is to disappear, if I take a cross from someone because that person no longer needs it, then it is good. And if I leave it, it is also good, for it serves the development and liberation of the soul. And so you can always go through life cheerfully, knowing that Actually, everything is good, because everything serves completion, both in small things and in big things. And so I have now taken all your requests into My Heart, full of joy that you trust Me, this trust that I have the power to bring things about. Believe it firmly, then it will happen. But the time is Mine.

I have power over everything. Satan is only a servant, an instrument that I ultimately use to create children of My love. Children who can move freely in My love. Gods at My side—that is what you are to become. That is the goal. So rejoice, My children. Joy and love are one. True joy exists only in love for Me and with Me, and true love always brings joy to the heart. And so you will recognize that you are in true love with Me when your heart is full of joy, even in times of need, in the awareness that I watch over everything and that everything is subject to My Will.

My children, My Word is life and light and love, and with these words with which I have opened this session today, with these words of love from My Heart, I now end this community of love here in this room. But know this: you are connected with one another from heart to heart, and no space in this time can separate you.

The community of My children has great significance for this time, and therefore: if you have different opinions about certain events in this world or about certain spiritual circumstances, remain in love with one another. No child should place himself above another, but move on this foundation that I have prepared for you: love for your neighbor and that I am always the one in your midst to whom you go and pray when darkness creeps in, when you feel that something is not right in your environment, in your sphere, or between you and your brother or sister.

Then consult Me, go into silence for a moment, go into your heart and examine your thoughts together with Me, and then all will be well again, for I will balance everything out, I will create light, I will give you back the love you have lost, time and again. But to do this, you must declare yourselves willing to stand in this attitude of humility, which creates the space I need in you and around you.

And so it is with the space you give Me when you let go of something in this world. I fill this free space in your soul with My Spirit, just as water flows into an empty space. And it is a wonderful feeling when you have let go of something, when you have created space in your soul, when you have thrown off a burden, and then My peace moves into this free space. Those who have already experienced this can tell of this freedom of true letting go.

And one more word about charity. Love even those who are not well disposed toward you, and do not condemn those who want to plunge this world into ruin. I am the judge; you are the ones who are to spread My love, even in your thoughts. Therefore, do not judge, but leave it to Me. Only I know what is to be done and what is not to be done; only I know how each soul is to be treated. I have entrusted love to you, not judgment.

And so, My children, I conclude this day. I bless you, I go out with you into the world. If you let Me, I am with you all the time, every moment of your life I am with you, you only have to become aware of it, you only have to enter into My presence, for I have already come for you.
