The Tree of Life, My children, shall grow within you. The Tree of Life is not the tree of transience from which you have fed yourselves until now, but the fruits of the Tree of Life give you eternal life. And not only you, My children, but the words, the fruits of this tree, which you pass on to your fellow human beings, will also satisfy them with the Spirit of My love, which flows through you to those who are searching for the meaning and purpose of this life of honour and do not know why they are here and do not know that there is a God, a God of love. But you know it, for I have revealed Myself to you in a way that is not often seen on this earth, this special revelation of the heart of a God who gave His life for His children and who, through His resurrection, has prepared the way for you to eternal life in My heart.

But, My children, now you are placed on this battlefield called Earth. You have come here knowing that it will not be a walk in the park, but a rocky road, a hard struggle that lies ahead of you in order to achieve the highest goal that a human being can achieve: to become and be a true child of God for eternity, equipped with all that I Myself have and am. I give all this to those who, in their life of faith and love in Me and from Me, surrender their lives completely to Me on this earth, who open the doors of their hearts wide to Me on this thorny path in order to pass through the eye of the needle of humility at My hand.

Many of you have already travelled steep paths, even without Me. You have walked paths of darkness in battle with the powers of this earth. And yet this has caused a longing to seize your soul, so that you have felt: 'This cannot be life, to fight and struggle here without meaning or purpose; there must be something higher.' I have placed this impulse within you; it was the call I addressed to you, this need and this longing for more. And I have guided you so that you have experienced that I exist. And I have guided you so that you have come to recognise more and more what kind of God I am, what significance I have for you and what significance you have for Me.

My meaning for you is to be absorbed in the love of My heart. My meaning for you is the divine fatherhood into which you may enter as children of My love for eternity. And your meaning for Me is the joy of being a father, for I have never been a father, but only an almighty God. You know that My existence is without beginning. I have always been the Godhead, I have always been the almighty God, holy, untouchable, inaccessible, infinite, and My creatures were beings with free will.

But now I have become a Father. I have begotten children from Myself, children who are free in their love for Me, free in their will. That is what you are. I have sent you on this path, to this earth, for only here is it possible to attain free sonship with God, this miracle, this unique miracle in the entire creation, for it is not written with My omnipotence, but with your free will.

And so it is always necessary and important that I bring you closer to the meaning of this path, that I tell you what it means for you to be allowed to walk this path through this valley of death, which is at the same time the valley of life. And with Me, My children, you will overcome this death and have already overcome it through Me, for I have placed My resurrection in you. I have placed My life within you, My divine life is contained within you, the life of a God, locked deep within your soul.

But now the door is open. You have opened it through your love for Me. Now My love can flow and fill you and bestow upon you the gifts from My heart. And so you have already come a long way in this realisation of your divinity in Me. And yet it is only a short time on this earth. The years that remain to you, some more, some less, what are they in comparison to eternity... a breath. And yet, in this breath of eternity, everything is contained that you need to be children of My love for eternity.

So I now embrace you with all My love, connecting your hearts with one another, so that you may feel: Here, Heaven has opened up, which is now manifesting and revealing itself in this room and uniting you in divine love and harmony, in the oneness of My Spirit. No evil thought can take hold here, for now everything is enveloped in light and love. And it is something wonderful, a great joy is unfolding in Heaven, for its inhabitants are also looking in here and sharing in this hour of celebration.

Countless ones are now sharing and rejoicing with you, even those whom you once bid farewell to with tears, yet with the certainty and courage to take on this earthly life, to shape it in My love and finally and ultimately to enter into this fulfilment, into rebirth in My Spirit. You have firmly resolved to do this; your whole being was filled with this courage, this certainty and this trust in Me that I will guide you so that you will reach this goal.

Each one of you, My children, needs a completely individual path, a completely individual treatment, and yet it is a unity in My Spirit. Some of you are still in pain, in mental suffering. Some have already been able to rise above it, in trust and devotion to Me, so that distress can no longer take hold, no longer has a permanent place in the soul, in which this child of God speaks: "My Father, no matter what happens to my life, it belongs to You. I trust You in everything, I hold nothing back, my life belongs to You. I know of Your love. I also know that You do everything to bring me to my goal, therefore I trust You completely."

When you speak like this, My child, the door to Me opens a little wider and eventually it will open completely. There is a big difference between the door to Me being only slightly open and it being wide open. For the small crack does not allow Me to enter. My light can shine through and touch you, and you can already feel My presence, but it is not the same as My entering into your soul, where we stand face to face and heart to heart, My child, and where I then take you into My arms in a long embrace between Father and child.

In this embrace, our union takes place, so that your heart, My child, and My Father's heart flow together into one heart, into one divine consciousness, into one love. I say this as God, but I say it above all as Father, as Brother, as your best friend. I am all in all, and I am your Bridegroom, the Bridegroom of your soul.

But it is not yet time. Humility, My children, opens the door wide. The humility in which My child says: "My Father, everything about me is not good, everything about me is darkness and sin. But You, You live in me and You are the love in me. Your love transforms all my darkness into light, Your love in me transforms all that is imperfect into Your perfection." And then, My child, you are free from sin, and only then can you enter My house.

This is the process you are in, you who are here in this room and all who walk with Me. In this final process that a human being can go through: to the end, which is an eternal beginning. And that is why it is important that you come together and that I tell you this, that I spur you on with the words: My children, it is not far now. I am already there and you are ready. There is not much left, just a short way to go, even if it is thorny. With trust and devotion to My love, to My care, everything is easy.

And when the preparation has progressed to the point where the soul is on the verge of spiritual rebirth, then I will step in, for the completion of your soul, My child, is an act of grace from My love. You cannot bring this about yourself. You can allow yourself to be prepared and love Me with all the strength of your heart and soul and, in doing so, love people, but spiritual perfection comes from My mercy, and that is the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit unites your soul and My spark of spirit within you into one. So it takes the "descent" of the Holy Spirit, as it says in the Bible, to complete My child.

And here also lies the understanding of the sin against the Holy Spirit, for He is the grace of God. Whoever rejects grace sins against the Holy Spirit. But in the true sense, this person then sins against himself and not against Me, for you cannot sin against Me, My child, because for you I have placed My mercy before My divine justice and holiness. Man always sins only against himself, for if he rejects My grace, he does not attain lasting forgiveness of sins and redemption from sin. So it is not that I say, "You have sinned against My holiness, therefore I do not forgive you and reject your way." No, it is not so. The sin against the Holy Spirit is the loss of My grace, for then man cannot come to his perfection, he does not accept My forgiveness, indeed, he blasphemes against My grace, he blasphemes against the Holy Spirit and thus ultimately remains sinful, remains a prisoner of sin.

But you, My children, long for this grace of Mine. There is no danger of you sinning against the Holy Spirit, for you hope for and expect this grace. Just as My apostles once waited for this promise. They too were taught, trained and prepared by Me for three years, albeit by and through My personal presence, but My Word is just as valid and true here as it was then. You know the essentials that My apostles knew back then. And so it will be that the Spirit of My grace will descend upon you and finally unite your soul and spirit spark within you for spiritual rebirth.

All this is in My plan. Therefore, My children, make an effort, for although this is a promise, its fulfilment depends on you. It is a unique opportunity and it is the meaning and purpose of your earthly existence. That is the only reason you have come to this earth, to realise this. Therefore, do not lament and do not complain about what is happening to you, for everything is there to bring you to this goal. Every encounter with a person, every situation you experience, serves to help you reach this goal.

And above all, strive for deep love for Me in your hearts. For once it has taken root and you are allowed to live in this love from time to time, it will automatically grow within you. The flame will grow ever greater as if by itself when you surrender yourselves to Me, when you trust Me, when you consistently follow this path. And also practise charity, which is so important. For whoever does not love his neighbour does not love Me either. You can only love your neighbours out of love for Me, My children, only My love within you is capable of loving the people of this world.

For the blind people of this world... what are they like? There are many liars and criminals, people are malicious, arrogant, self-loving. They laugh at My children and mock them: "They still believe in this old-fashioned God, who is no longer relevant. We are our own God!" and so on. It is not always easy for you to love these people, but with My love you can do it. Love them in the sense that you show them mercy in their blindness, in their errors, in the fact that they do not know what they are saying and doing.

Then connect with Me and say: "My Father, help me to look at this person with Your love. This person who lies and cheats, who is responsible for hundreds or thousands of fellow human beings falling into poverty, into need or into death." Then you need Me.

In your request, My divine love unites with your weak human love. Then it will be possible for you not to judge this person, but to look at him with My eyes, and the gaze of My eyes always has salvation in mind. I want to redeem all people and lead them to bliss. That is My longing as God. But only a few want it. And you, My children, you belong to these few.

And now, when the ship of the world is rocking more and more, when the storm of the world is becoming even wilder and stronger, even here in this country, then look at the image of the apostles in the rocking boat on the lake: When the storm came and they were full of fear and anxiety and did not know what to do, thinking that I had abandoned them because I was asleep in the boat and they could not wake Me, I was awake in time and commanded the storm to be still. And in that moment, the sea became a mirror-smooth, flat surface and the sky cleared.

And so, when your soul is in turmoil, when it is tossed about in the storm of the world, awaken Me in yourselves by not ceasing to call upon Me, for sometimes I must allow you to move seemingly without Me in the turmoil and bustle of the world, so that your longing may be stirred even more, so that you may recognise even more how urgently you need Me. Then I will spread My arms over the storm within you and your soul will find peace.

Then the sun will shine within you in the awareness: Jesus has now helped me, He has brought my soul to rest. It is a wonderful feeling when a storm ends abruptly, when the waves that whip back and forth and prevent your thoughts from coming to rest are suddenly replaced by calm and silence. A feeling of security then spreads within you. I have the power to do this. Therefore, call upon Me in these hours, even if I am not immediately tangible to you, keep calling.

And so everything is always shrouded in perfection. Even My apparent distance serves to bring you closer to Me. Especially in this time, in this special time in which I have sent you. Therefore, rejoice, My children, for these are words of joy. They are words in which I bear witness to My love for you and your perfection in Me.

Yes, the world does not know you; your names are written elsewhere, My children. You are not called to be in the world, for My kingdom is not of this world, but for eternal life, for My kingdom, for the heavenly Jerusalem. And this city is within you, My children, I have built this city in your hearts. You must enter into your hearts and in your hearts you will live; your hearts are your love, and My love in your love is the Father's house in this city.

This is a great promise that I give you today, this plan that I once discussed with each one of you and also placed certainty in you. And when you look deep within yourselves and listen, you will find this certainty that it cannot be otherwise than: 'My Father, I can only imagine a life with You, and it will also come to pass, for everything else makes no sense to me.

Not being allowed to live in Your house would be terrible for me.' Yes, My children, that is the certainty I have placed within you, that flame of longing that strives for fulfilment and will not rest until fulfilment is achieved. That is what drives you, that is your spiritual motor, that is your motivation.

And so always be aware that you are accompanied by many who have already been on this earth, who have already fulfilled their mission, some in a big way, some in a small way. And as I once said: The last shall be first. You are the last of the old times, and now you are the first to stand before Me, and all others stand behind you and pray for you and carry you with their love in My Heart.

God is always active, also through His children. But I am also a God of the inconspicuous. The small works of love, done in everyday life, which do not puff themselves up before the world, but invisibly spread love in the small areas of life, these are the great works of love. And whether a child speaks My Word, or whether a child does a small work of love for a neighbour, a person in need, it is the same for Me and before Me. The nature of the activity makes no difference; it is always only the love in it that is important, not the size of the work. And so I rejoice in doing the works of My love in all My children, in one way or another. But not only the works through you to people and to your brothers and sisters, but also the works of My love for you and for yourselves, so that you may be perfected in My love.

And to the brothers and sisters who are still tormenting themselves in darkness, for there are many who are still in this process of purification and also of pain, I say: Your time will come. I will free you from all darkness and from those who accompany you insidiously. For each of you has not only companions from the light world beyond, but also those who have attached themselves to you in an ungodly manner, who have no good intentions or who have lost their way and burden the soul with darkness and evil thoughts. All this, man carries with him and around him in his sphere to a greater or lesser extent. And in some, due to certain circumstances in life, a greater number of dark figures have attached themselves to the soul or have taken up residence in the soul.

And many ask themselves: 'Yes, why does this child of God still suffer so much? Why does the Father not intervene and set them free? And I say: My daughter, you who still have much to struggle with, and you, My son, who carries darkness within you, I will set you free. I have prepared everything; all darkness will depart from you. When My light shines brightly within you, when My Word has become alive in you, then every burden will fall away from you.

And that is also necessary. I say it again and again: I need free children, children who can move freely in My love and who do not carry heavy burdens on their shoulders that crush them and darkness that envelops them again and again. It shall not remain so. That is not a state worthy of a child of God. That is why I have set out to take this darkness away from you. And I can do it to the extent that you surrender yourselves to Me, to the extent that you are willing to open yourselves to My love, despite or precisely because of all these burdens.

The thoughts that burden and oppress you ... they are not always your own thoughts. You also absorb much from the beings that surround you. Therefore, examine everything and keep only what is good. Put everything else aside or give it to Me; place it in the light of My love, these thoughts of revenge, these thoughts of envy, these thoughts of sadness, whatever they may be. And when you feel neglected, no matter what it is, give it to Me, I will set you free. Room by room, your soul shall be set free, permeated by light and love from Me. And when all the spaces within you have been cleansed, even those you do not yet know, which I still have to open and will open in the trial, when all these spaces have been opened and My light shines into them and dispels the last darkness, then the miracle of which I spoke earlier will happen, the miracle of transformation, the outpouring of My grace, so that you may be perfected in My love with the Holy Spirit.

I have mapped out this path for each of My children, and this path contains the goal. Therefore, believe firmly that it is possible and do not say, "No, I cannot imagine that happening to me, for I am still so much in sin, I still carry so much darkness within me, I still judge my fellow men so often, I am still caught up in this or that worldly habit, etc." Yes, My son, yes, My daughter, that is your imperfection, but I am life and love within you, therefore love Me, then you will be perfected in My grace and live.

Believe it, for your faith is the prerequisite for it to happen. It is a promise I give to all those who have set out to walk this path with Me to its ultimate conclusion, with all that it entails: self-denial in certain things, putting oneself last, giving love. It should not be done for the sake of reward, but for the sake of love; only then is it divine. Only then will the last bit of humanity leave you, when you do it for the sake of love and not for the sake of gain.

My children, the quiet hours and minutes are so important for you to enter into the silence of your heart, where I am waiting for you, in this solitude in which I am in you. With a longing that only a God can have, with a longing that only a father can have, or a mother who pours out her heart's blood in longing so that she can take her child in her arms, so am I also the One who waits in you.

A God who waits? Although I am a God without time and without space, I have entered into this time and into this space as the Son of Man, Jesus Christ, and so I have entered into the time and into the space of your hearts, which are also worlds, in which I was crucified because you forgot Me, because you no longer believed in a God of love within you. But I have risen within you, and here I am now: The risen Jesus Christ within you. And so I also stand here in this room and connect with Myself in you in this ray of love from Me and take you with Me, so that the little Jesus Christ within you may become ever greater, and so that I, as God, may also find My fulfilment in the anticipation and joy that My child wants to be wholly and completely My child. I look forward to this.

And only in these quiet hours can you hear My words within you as impulses and thoughts from Me, then you feel this warmth in your chest, feel it rising in your hearts, then this flame of longing becomes physically perceptible within you, a feeling of home spreads within you, a feeling of security, heavenly security. Then the world falls away from you, then there is no world anymore for you, but only you and Me, My son, and you and Me, My daughter, the two of us alone in this intimacy of our hearts, yes, that is Me to My children. The world will never recognise Me in this depth of My love, the world does not want to. But you, My children, you long for this love, and you now feel it to the extent that I move in your hearts ... in this love that now radiates from you into your soul, into your consciousness, with these words of truth from a God who lives only for love.

And so there are actually two Gods, if you look at it closely: the Godhead, the God who I am for the world in His lawfulness and holiness and unattainability; and then I am this other God whom only My children are allowed to know, a secret, only to My bride souls do I bare My Heart... so now time stands still, My children, an eternal moment in which I reveal Myself to you in My deepest love, in My nakedness... it is now an unforgettable moment for you for eternity, and you will always carry this moment within you, in which I revealed Myself to you so naked, in this vulnerability too, in My innermost being and essence.

There is also silence in Heaven, and silence now spreads throughout this creation, in the soul of the Word, for the soul of this Word is indeed creation, and so now the fallen one is also touched, he too has received this impulse of My innermost love, and he too is moved, Lucifer, once the spirit of light, to whom I gave all the light that I Myself have, but in whom all darkness is now united, and yet this revelation also penetrates his heart. And so something great is now happening in this creation, starting from this small space, from this inconspicuous place, where God's love is revealed in a way that touches all darkness and makes all creation tremble with love.

This quiet moment of My grace and love, My children, you will be able to experience again and again whenever you enter into this moment that I keep in your hearts, an imperishable moment into which you can always immerse yourselves and recognise My indescribable love. Amen."

I am an infinite God, I not only permeate infinity, I am infinity itself. No one gave birth to Me, I have no beginning and I have no end, I always was and always will be. I am the infinity outside of you, and I am the infinity within you. The dividing wall between the outer and inner infinity is your soul, and the infinity in the outer and the infinity in your hearts is found again in Me; it is a cycle of infinity and eternity; I am the cycle of infinity and eternity.

When you have entered into My spirit, you will experience inner and outer infinity as one infinity, but not by becoming aware of its totality all at once, but rather as you gradually move forward. This conscious divine existence determines your omnipresence in Me, because you can then manifest yourselves at any place in creation without needing time for it, without having to travel any distance. Wherever your heart draws you and wherever you will bring new creations into being, where there is nothing yet because My divine consciousness is still closed there, you will be.

When you then create something, it will be from Me, but it is you who opens up the dormant, the uncreated in Me, so that a new creation, a new world, a new universe may be born, which you will then rule on My behalf. You will then be responsible for these worlds and for the people, for the spirits who live on these worlds. Yes, you will then be a kind of god, not God as I am, but true children of God. And My children shall rule worlds, endowed with divine power and might and, above all, with My love, with serving love. That is your future, but I can only give it in full to those who attain childhood on this earth.

You cannot now comprehend the bliss of such a divine life at My side. The countless spirits who will then be subject to you and who will rule and guide everything on these worlds from within you, from the plant kingdom to the animal kingdom to human beings, all of this will then be in your hands, in your hearts. This is the firstfruits of My children, and this is the highest good that a human being can attain. But the enemy of life wants to rob you of this; he does not want you to attain this status, and therefore he tries everything to prevent it. He wants to prevent many of My children from attaining this divine power of true sonship.

It is only small things that make the difference between being an inhabitant of the heavens or an inhabitant of the Father's house in heaven, to rule this creation together with Me. It is often tiny things that the enemy holds up to you as something completely innocent, and you need good eyes to see what makes the difference. Therefore, ask Me to recognise these seemingly small things, which are even presented by the world as something good, but which form a dividing wall between you and this firstfruits, between you and the attainment of the highest goal of life.

I see everything and I show you everything that you are still lacking, but you must connect with Me, open the door to Me so that we can communicate and I can tell you what you are lacking, down to the smallest details. And that can hurt, because then you think: "My Father, it cannot be that this separates me from You!" But My child, that is exactly what it is, and only I can show you this.

Ask Me now, lay your requests before Me, you can ask for anything, there is no limit; but ask Me in childlike humility: 'My Father, here I am, I stand before You as a sinner, but You have borne all my sins, You have accomplished the work of forgiveness, You have the power to free Your child from every sin. Therefore, I ask You, dear Father, to free me from all sin, to free me from everything that separates me from You, to take everything away, everything, for I want to reach this goal of true sonship. In future, I will place my life more and more in Your hands and in Your heart. No matter what happens, my life shall belong to You. And no matter what people say, I trust You, You will take care of me.

So it shall be. But not in such a way that you no longer go to work and say, "My Father will take care of me." That is not what is meant. You must do your part, even in the world. But I am above all things and below all things, therefore trust, trust with gratitude, combine trust and gratitude, for together they result in fulfilment. Trust plus gratitude equals fulfilment and joy, a divine equation.

That is your task, My children, to place Me in the souls of people through prayer; only My children can do that. Only you have the power, and the more you are united with Me in love, the more power your prayers have. And the more faithful you are to Me in love, the more faithful I am in prayer. And also speak to the person in question with loving thoughts, then I will place these words in their soul. They are seeds that you sow, which I sow because you give them to Me and which you in turn have received from Me. Thus it is a cycle of love and intercession.

Therefore, believe in this divine power within you, do not deny it. And even if it is not immediately visible, it is still a work of love on this side or the other. Therefore, do not pray so much that a person does not have to leave this earth, but pray for the salvation of his soul. For I am the one who calls, I alone know how to treat a soul at all times, what it needs and what it must not receive. But when a soul completely closes itself off from all divine influence, then it is also difficult for Me to help this person; and yet, the seeds are always sown in the soil of the soul; even if the person does not immediately open himself to them, it still happens as an act of mercy, because you manifest this as My children. You should know this.

And so your requests are now placed in My Heart, along with many others that you carry within you. For today I have opened Heaven and spread My Word, and therein lies grace and mercy for each of your thoughts. And so these are the words of farewell only in the material world, for in the spirit, My children, there is no separation. I am in you and you are in Me, therefore we do not separate, we remain together. Even when you go out again into the world, there is no separation from Me, only matter as an apparent separation, for even that does not exist. Actually, there is no separation, everything is one, always has been, is and always will be, evident in awakening as the unity of love of this creation.
