

12-13 August 2025

I give you My blessing. My love is your love. What does that mean for you? Ask Me that you may see the world through My eyes, nature, people, the path you are walking as a symbol of the path of life, which rises steeply once more at the end. Where you need all your strength, where you must summon all your courage to master this final ascent, which challenges you once again completely, in order to reach this high, holy and noble goal: to be a true child of My love.

So let this path today be a symbol of that path for you. Walk with Me, I am with you, I accompany you. I will give you wonderful thoughts if you open your hearts to Me. And calmly imagine that I am taking you by the hand, that I am walking among you as I once walked among the apostles, and they walked around Me and their eyes were always fixed on Me: What will I say, My facial expressions, My eyes ... where am I looking? Everything was focused on Me, and they rejoiced at every word I spoke; not only aloud, but I spoke to them on a spiritual level. They heard My words in their hearts as thoughts, as impulses. We conversed in this way very often, although outwardly it appeared as if there was silence, and yet there was a liveliness among us, a divine liveliness.

So it shall also be with you, My children: this divine vitality. Therefore, pay attention to your thoughts, for they could be Mine, today and not only today, but it should always be so that we think together, that we love together and live together.

Yes, and it is a great joy for Me, My children, to show you My love. For I am only love. Love expresses itself in many ways. Love also means that I lead My creatures along certain paths in order to bring about corrections. The law is also part of love. It is a lawfulness that I have laid down in this creation so that ultimately everything may find its way to Me.

But for you, My children, My love means purity, purity of My heart, which I give to you, truth, in which I place you. Yes, I have placed you in the ray of truth. I have guided you so that you may recognise what I mean to you. I have opened My heart to you and revealed My love. And in this openness of My heart, I now stand here in your midst and hold nothing back. I reveal Myself to you as Father. And you have recognised Me as Father.

First, you walked the path and said: There is a God, there is a creation that He brought into being. And then I led you deeper into this faith, you were allowed to know Me more deeply, I illuminated the path you are walking more and more. I led you so that you could recognise Me as your Father God. I have told you My plan for you, My plan for those who have set out to recognise and love Me as their Father. You are now on this path, in this process in which I have placed you.

You have gone deeper and deeper into faith. And for many of you, faith has already become knowledge. I am and have become reality for you. It is no longer the case that you say, "There may be a God," or, "There is a God, but He is unapproachable and unfathomable." I have led you deeper into the knowledge of God. Yes, I have led you into the deepest depths of the knowledge of God, right into the place where I truly reveal Myself: into the space of My heart and My love. And you have accepted this love of Mine, My children, you have declared yourselves willing to live in this love. I have offered Myself to you and you have accepted Me into your hearts, and thus it has become one.

My children of this Earth, I have wrapped you in the cloak of My divinity and continue to guide you along this path in the shelter of love. Yes, certain external circumstances have also taken you out of the world. The conditions on this earth have made clear to you the falsehood and lies that rule this world. This has shown you even more that this world is not your home. This has caused you to withdraw even further from this world. These are the external circumstances. And yet, My children, it is so that There is much that you yourselves must let go of without external pressure, which I cannot take from you, but which you should give up of your own free will out of love for Me. These are often very small things that still bind you to material things.

Yes, on the one hand I say: My children are not yet as far as they could be. And on the other hand I say: It is only a small step for many of you. Is that a discrepancy? Does that contradict itself? I say no, because it is often only small things that prevent My Spirit from taking complete possession of you. It is often only a small step that you have to take. But if you cling to this or that and do not let go, then you will remain behind, and it is this lagging behind that many of you are experiencing.

So it is good news when I tell you that it is often only small things. And if you do not recognise them, you can say: 'My Father, what am I still lacking? What must I do to come one step closer to You, which will then be enough for me to become one with You? You see, My child, it is not so difficult; you only have to ask Me: 'My Father, it is my desire to belong completely to You. I strive for this birth into Your Spirit. Please show me these little things that I may still be holding on to unconsciously, that I do not recognise or where I think: 'It is quite normal in this world to do this or that.'

But I say: My children, My kingdom is not of this world. My child must open his hands, must let go of everything that clings to the earthly, in order to be able to move in this freedom of detachment from matter. It is good and right to accept matter as a gift and to treat the body as a temple of the soul, but beyond that there are many things that unnecessarily bind you to matter. That is why you need the light of self-knowledge. And I give you this light, I shine it into your souls and into your hearts.

I send you people who hold up a mirror to you. When you think, 'This person or that person is doing something that affects me negatively,' then look within yourself, My child, and you will realise that in one way or another, you also carry this within you. And often it is a magnifying glass that I hold up to you so that you can find the small things within yourself. You must be completely honest, sincere and truthful with yourself. You cannot hide anything from Me anyway, for I know everything and I will show it to you.

And so it is also My great desire that you, My children, may enter into this fulfilment. I fight and struggle as God for your freedom, for your detachment from matter. I am doing everything in My power, always careful not to interfere with your free will. But you have the power to integrate Me into your free will, and then I can intervene. And then it can happen very quickly, as I have emphasised many times, this union in love with Me, this highest goal that a human being can achieve on this Earth. And I have sent you on this path.

I have placed My trust in you, in each and every one of you. My trust testifies to you not only the possibility of fulfilment, but also its reality; My trust in and towards you is already the fulfilment. Therefore, believe in yourselves, believe that you can walk this path to the end. Believe firmly that together with Me, everything is possible. Do not believe what people say. If you say to someone, "The Father in Heaven has set me on the path to deify my soul," yes, you will probably be laughed at. And yet, My children, this is your destiny and your goal. And the further you progress in this earthly life, even if you may not yet have reached the end of this path here, it is still good preparation, the best preparation, so that the path in the spiritual world will be quick, only a short way home to the Father's house.

Therefore, do everything in your power to achieve this goal. It is a unique opportunity for you. It will never come again. This is the only life you have to achieve this goal. You have already lived many lives in preparation for this one life here on Earth. And now you have entered this space, and now you determine your destiny. It is about eternity. It is necessary to open eternity within yourselves now. Leave time behind and place your thoughts in eternity, where I will receive and prepare them and give them back to you. Therefore, continue to work hard.

Believe in yourselves and believe that I want to bring you to this goal. Believe it firmly. Be true children of God on this earth. There are so few. Not many have the courage to go into this consequence, to give Me everything. Not many do it, but I encourage you to follow this path.

I lead My children into silence. In the silence of your hearts, My children, we meet. You need these quiet hours. I say it often and again and again: Take the time and remain in this silence. And when your thoughts call you out and say, "I still have this and that to do!" then do not do it, but remain with Me. And when such thoughts come again and you want to get up because you think you cannot bear it any longer, then I say: Remain in silence, for only now, after a certain time, will your thoughts come to rest.

Then you will hear My Word within you as impulses, as thoughts from My Heart, which you will immediately recognise as coming from Me because they are full of love. So go into silence often. Use music to put your soul in a good mood; that is good. But the encounter with Me does not need music. In the space of divinity within you, there is silence. There we meet ... quietly and peacefully, My children. There we look into each other's eyes. There you may look at Me. There I take you into My arms.

That is what I am waiting for. It is My wish and My desire as a Father to take My children into My arms and let love flow from My heart into your hearts. It is something wonderful that I can only give to those who have opened their hearts completely to Me. My wish as a Father and your wish as a child unite to form one wish, one commonality, one unity, one love. And it is these encounters that will quickly take you forward, where everything can happen very quickly if you do this every day, often several times a day. You have the time, many of you have a lot of time. I have created space for you, use it, use it better than you have done so far.

Here in this circle, I open My Heart and My words flow from the deepest depths of My Heart for each and every one of you, to touch you and show you My Love and what you mean to Me as your Father. With these words, I want to show you the meaning of this earthly journey for you and that I believe in you, that I trust you, that I love you. That is the meaning and purpose of this personal address.

But do not forget to accept what I show you through other people and what I reveal to you in your soul. Take it seriously when a thought like this comes to you: 'Now is the time to let go of this or that, so that you can continue on your path, My child, so that you do not get stuck at this barrier or cling to something.

I tell you, let it go now, otherwise you will not move forward. This is a fact and cannot be changed: Only those who let go, who do not look back, but look forward, towards Me, will move forward.

So let this be My final word for today. Once again, I bless you and tell you: I will never leave any of you. And if My child strays again into darkness, I will follow and will not rest until I hold you in My arms again. I will go deep into the darkness with you, My child. No matter how thick it is, I am always with you, for once I have taken hold of you, I will never let you go. Every word I say is truth, now and here and for all time.

Yes, My children, it is a time of grace. The door of grace has been opened wide for a short time compared to the existence of this earth. Yes, My grace is always effective in one way or another. But now the gate has been opened wide, and light and love and glory are shining in. And those who grasp this ray in devotion, in trust and in love for Me, in these My children, this ray becomes effective and unfolds, unfolds Me in you, makes Me alive in you.

For many people, I am a dead God, a distant, unapproachable, unattainable God, somewhere, a fate that can never be reached. But in the ray of grace of My love, I am Father. And to be a Father, I say this with all My heart and with all My love, is the greatest and most beautiful thing for Me as God. I have always set this goal for Myself: to be a Father of children who gather freely around Me in love and call out to Me: 'Father, You are our only love, our joy, our bliss for eternity!', so that we may enter into eternity together as a family, as a large family, as a divine family.

And this community will never come to an end. We will continue to walk into this space, into this infinite space of eternity, hand in hand and heart to heart.

And love will be without measure and without end. That is My joy as God. I have directed My ray of grace upon you, anchored it in your hearts, and everything is contained therein. And so this blessing for eternity is also the blessing for today, the day on which I accompany and guide you, giving you renewed impulses of love.

I am an almighty God, ruling over this creation, ruling over infinity, yet I am also present in your tears, in every drop of blood in your heart, I am the vitality. In every evening breeze, I am the divine breath that blows through you.

All your longing that has been lost in this world, I now gather and make into a bundle. I bundle it into a ray and direct this ray into My Heart, so that your soul in its entirety may find this entrance into My Heart. This is My task as God. And you must declare yourselves ready, you must let go, I have already told you this. And according to your efforts to sin no more, to lead a pure and conscientious life, I will come to meet you. Often I take your efforts and your good will as the deed, and then I add the deed. I perfect your good will with My divine deed. This is My gift, this is My concession to you at all times.

And so, My children, when you now exchange thoughts and talk about this day, about Me, about My love, about your needs and desires, then I am in your midst and give you answers. Therefore, ask the questions that burden you, that concern you. For now there is still a space of answer created here for you at this hour. Amen.

I am always ready; it is My joy to speak with you. Just as an earthly father feels the need to speak with his children, and the children respond to their father's words, so you too should speak with Me in this silence, in your solitude. Speak with Me, and I will speak with you. It should be a dialogue, this intimacy of which I have spoken often in this room, where only I and you, My son, and I and you, My daughter, are present, closed off from the world, hermetically sealed. Only the two of us meet and talk. So it should be, this room is ready, and I am ready, and you are ready. So let us do it.

My children, I would like to express My gratitude to you. My thanks go to you for your loyalty to Me. I express My gratitude because you show Me your willingness, because you have opened your hearts to Me, because I am allowed to be your Father. For this I thank you, My children. Even a God feels the need to give thanks. Joy and gratitude are one and the same; they cannot be separated. Gratitude is contained in joy, and joy is contained in gratitude, and so I am a joyful and grateful God.

I have always been grateful. Being God is something beautiful, if I may say so. I am God. No one created Me. I have always been and always will be, and everything is actually Me. And yet I separated Myself from Myself, and that is you. And I take pleasure in having given you this independence, this freedom, this absolute freedom in which you are allowed to live. And to give this freedom back to Me in love is My joy, and for that I thank you.
