

13 December 2025

My children, I have entered this circle and spread the umbrella of My love over you and opened My love in your hearts, so that you may hear My word correctly, so that you may receive it with the love of your hearts and the mind as a subordinate consciousness participates in it, but is not the main recipient. The word I give you is bread for the heart and not primarily for the mind.

So I open this circle by telling you: Many of your ancestors and parents are also invited today. And many others from the beyond, who joyfully expand this small circle of brothers and sisters, thus forming a large circle. And around this large circle there is an even larger circle of angelic hosts and the hosts of heaven. Thus, it is a wonderful heavenly community with Me in the centre as your heavenly Father, who now distributes the bread and the word and the love in this Advent season, which is celebrated in preparation for the former birth on this earth, for Christmas.

And so this end time is the Advent of My renewed birth, My spiritual return to this earth. The preparation for this is now taking place within you, and together with Me you are going through this last Advent, hand in hand and heart to heart. I would like to discuss this last time, My children, this special time, with you. Together with My children, I want to accomplish the work of redemption, and so I ask you, My children: Shall I already bar the door of hell and end everything?

What do you think about this, My children here in this circle? You are welcome to give Me an answer, here and now. So I ask you, My son Joseph; give Me some advice, what do you feel and think about this time, how would you act in My place?

Joseph: Actually, it should be ended, because it is terrible without end and, in my view, it will only get worse, but on the other hand, dear Father, You yourself must know best when the right time is and whether we children are ready to endure all this and remain faithful to You.

Jesus: Yes, those are your thoughts, My children, and yes, I know best what to do, and yet I want to discuss it with you, I want to involve you more in My decision, so that our union becomes even more intimate. And yet I say: If you want Me to put an end to the evil goings-on on this earth because it has become so bad, because these falsehoods and lies are no longer bearable, I reply: There is a big "but", because My body is not yet complete, most of My children are not yet ready, are not in the state that allows their rapture, the fulfilment with My Spirit.

And so, if I were to draw this line now, the entire work of redemption would be called into question. The last days are therefore not only determined by the behaviour of the world, but by the development and state of My children; that is what causes Me to hold back and wait a little longer.

And how do the people of this world feel about the events of this time? On the one hand, they say, 'Why does God allow such things to happen?' and 'What kind of God is this who allows such suffering?', and they revile Me. On the other hand, they mock My children and laugh at them when they tell them that God will not allow evil to continue much longer and will soon put an end to the wickedness, when they speak of God's intervention and judgement. Yes, My children, what can one say to that? ... It is difficult to tell people and teach them what is really happening now.

And then there are the so-called Christians who want to be judges themselves and wish for judgement upon all who do not share their misguided beliefs. These are the ones who cling to the outward word and have not recognised the spirit within it. They want eternal damnation for all sinners and dissenters, but in their self-righteousness and judgementalism they condemn themselves. They dig their own graves and have already dug them. To them I say: 'Depart from Me, for I have never known you, just as you have not known Me!

That is the overall situation, so to speak, at this time, but I am bringing My own together and placing them under the protective mantle of My love. For you, I am God the Father and not the God of judgement. For you, I am the Redeemer and Liberator, and I lead you to your spiritual home. And even if you still carry within you much that is sinful and does not fit in with the state you must attain in order to receive My Spirit, you are nevertheless already nourished and carried by My love and care in every phase of your earthly existence.

I am always there for you, My children, and every request you make of Me reaches My heart, touches My heart, for I have opened My heart wide for you and it remains open. For once I have called and touched someone, I will never let them go.

And if you should stray again in the world, My child, then I will follow you. I will enter into your sin, into the darkness of your soul, and wait for you to turn back to Me. And then, My child, I will heal the wound you may have inflicted on yourself through your misbehaviour, your straying and your blindness, into which you sometimes still fall. Then I will be there for you, take you by the hand, lay My hands on you, so that the wound in your soul may heal and we may continue on our way together. This is what I do all the time, and I am always ready to do so.

It is important for you to know that even in your darkest hours, when you have a guilty conscience before Me and do not dare to look at Me again, I am there, My gaze fixed on you in the expectation that you will turn back to Me.

And if you have a guilty conscience, My child, because you have gone astray, then it is good to carry this for a little while within you, for the voice of conscience is a child of truth. But then turn to repentance, for it is a fire in the soul that burns away your sin and can and should burn quietly for a time, so that you no longer wish to commit this sin. But, My child, then place your repentance in My heart, so that your heart can breathe freely again, for persistent repentance separates you from Me. The heart must become free again in love. Therefore, use repentance as an instrument of purification for your soul for a certain time, but then release your soul again for unburdened love.

Yes, there is still much darkness within you in the chambers of your souls that you have not yet entered, waiting for redemption. But I also say: I am working with My angels in these chambers without you noticing. Hidden redemption is taking place here. And you do not need to know everything that is still within you, at least not at this point in time. What I allow to come to the surface of your consciousness is precisely measured by Me according to what you can process and bear in terms of sin and offer to Me in devotion to My love.

But other things that are hidden in the depths of your souls, I transform into light without you noticing. This is something I do for My children, something I do only for My children. This, too, is an aspect of My redemption for you. For if I did not cleanse these spaces, your paths would take much longer and spiritual darkness would arise within you that would overwhelm you. Yes, sometimes it even happens that, due to great distress, great pain, such a door opens and darkness then spreads in a soul. I allow this to happen to some of My children for certain reasons, but on the whole it does not happen.

However, I do not carry out this underground work among worldly people and unbelievers. And as you can see in this time, when darkness has spread across this earth, darkness also rises from the depths of souls. As a result, there are already many people with mental health problems and depression. This is the connection between the darkness of the soul and the darkness in the world. And there will be more and more who fall into this darkness, into depression, into mental distress.

Then, My children, there will be many who will take their own lives, and it has already come to this. But there will be many more because they cannot bear this darkness. And unfortunately, this is not only the case with worldly people, but also with believers who do not stand in the truth, in whom the dark side, the demonic world, flows into their faith. Thus, the separation of spirits is now taking place on many levels, in many areas.

But you, My children, who hear My word of truth, you stand in the ray of mercy and under the protective mantle of My love. Therefore, you can continue on your path without worry or fear and do not need to enter into the cares of the world. Always keep your eyes on Me and fight and struggle for joy. Joy is found in humility, in carefreeness, in love. In the love of love, the soul blossoms in My light, so that everything that is dark falls away from you.

And then My child is ready to receive the Holy Spirit from My heart: the rapture from the world into the life of the Spirit. And this shall already happen in this time with My children, just as I once raptured My apostles permanently into My Spirit, who were also prepared like you, but who could see Me and were thus beneficiaries of My physical presence.

Yes, it was easier for the people of that time because they saw Me and My Word touched and enlivened them directly. You have it more difficult because you receive My Word indirectly and cannot see Me. Therefore, your faith has a higher value and the measure of My mercy is greater. And yet, My children, your faith has long since gone beyond the normal measure. You have become knowledgeable. Your faith has turned into the knowledge that I am with you. And this knowledge is already the perception of My presence, which no one can take away from you anymore. Therefore, hold fast to Me, whatever may come in this time. With Me, all is well, My children.

My children, it is your longing for My word that draws Me to you again and again and causes Me to gather you around Me. And I, as a Father, then so gladly distribute My bread and share My love with you, and what it means to Me, My children, that you have set out to conquer My heart in the world's struggle. And so each of you is engaged in your own unique struggle, in a process of individual liberation. And so it may be that one Christian has a struggle that for another would not be a struggle at all, but rather an easy thing to go through.

And that is why it is very important that you do not judge someone who is going through a process that seems easy to you, but who does not know what to do and asks for prayer. For this person, with his or her soul nature and soul structure, with what he or she has experienced so far on this earth, hardship has a completely different meaning than it does for you. And vice versa, it can be exactly the same. Therefore, always be one in love for one another and for each other, and also in prayer, when you do not understand why a brother or sister is asking for prayer for this situation, which seems so insignificant to you. And so you should come closer and closer to Me in this joint progress, far away from the hustle and bustle of this world.

Yes, if you feel more drawn to the poor and needy, to those ignored by society, to the lowly esteemed, to the despised, than to the rich and famous who are presented in the media and formally worshipped, if you derive your joy from the glamorous events, from the glitz and glamour and from the good life of this world, and your joy consists mainly in wanting to help the needy and the poor, then you are already very close to Me and ready for My heavens. For then you have chosen poverty and sacrifice rather than the riches of this world.

And, My child, if you were willing to give up your place in heaven for a brother or sister whom you love, so that they may enter the realm of bliss, if you would make this sacrifice with joy out of love for your brothers and sisters, then, My child, I already live in you. For then I have become your love and your life. This is the highest good that a human being can achieve, absolute willingness to sacrifice together with Me. And what if I have become your life and your love, My child?

Then you are everywhere in Me and I am in you. That is the highest heavenly consciousness, and that is the highest heaven. My children, in this way you can test yourselves and determine where you stand and how far you would be willing to follow Me in turning away from the world and in your willingness to sacrifice. That is the essence of this path to and with Me.

And so, My children, there are many believers who rejoice and exult in their faith, in the belief that they are redeemed and filled with the Holy Spirit and spiritually reborn. And yet

They only want joy in the world and a good life. Sacrifice is foreign to them. That is not the path of truth and life. The way of truth is the way of renunciation, even of willingness to suffer. But on this path, a treasure opens up in the heart, but only if one walks it seriously and truthfully. Then the thorny path becomes a path of unspeakable joy and bliss in My Spirit.

Therefore, have the courage to enter into this space of humility, of surrendering your lives to My life, so that I may then rise in you and you may live with Me in eternal life, so that the little Jesus in the manger of your hearts may become the great Jesus, from the child of man to the Son of God and finally to the heavenly Father in you, and you may thereby be true children of God for eternity.

It is not that you should go through life with your heads bowed in sacrifice on this earth and despise everything that the world means, but you should walk this earth with joy in life and joy in love, full of courage and energy and confidence and trust that I am with you. Yes, you can rejoice in your communities and cheer, cheer love and express the joy you feel within yourselves on this path together with Me.

Thus, the path across this earth is, on the one hand, a sacrifice, and yet it is a path of joy. Like two rails of a track, both belong together and cannot be separated. Joy in life and love on the one hand, and self-denial and letting go of the world on the other – this whole decision for Me. I must come first, and only then comes the world in which you live, to which you must sometimes pay tribute according to your earthly basic needs and everything else that makes up your life on this earth. Therefore, put joy at the centre of your path and not sacrifice, because if you put sacrifice at the centre, then you become a victim, then you yourselves are the centre of your life, and that should be Me.

Communion

Jesus says: My children, take this bread as a sign that you have accepted My word of truth into your hearts, that you have sunk My word deep into your hearts, so that the word I speak to you here and the word I have placed in you from the beginning may become one word and one love. And then drink the wine as a testimony that you are putting into practice what you have recognised as true and good, in the faithful love of your hearts for Me. This is the true Communion and is the true bread and is the true wine.

So this is a special moment in this time, when I Myself am present and distribute My body to the people and My blood, as I once did when I sacrificed Myself on the cross and bled for the sins of the people. So it is again today that I sacrifice My body, which is you, and My blood, which is your acts of love. Do this now in the joy of your hearts. To those who are present from the heavens, I have also given the bread and the wine, and so you now do it together with them, and thus it is a heavenly unity that is gathered here. Amen.

My children, by eating the bread and drinking the wine, I renew and deepen My covenant with you. This Supper is the testimony and proof of your faithfulness to Me, that you are truly children of My love.

You can already hear Me, not necessarily as spoken words, but as an impulse of love, and that I send out the soul of the word. This is a field of thought that you receive, which takes shape within you and becomes the word through you. You clothe the soul of the word with your use of language, with your state of mind, and then you receive it in the silence of your hearts. I have placed this in all My children. But for this it is necessary that you take these quiet hours, this seclusion from the world, in order to make Me present in you, in order to be able to speak with Me.

Then there can be a continuation, that you, My child, also reveal My Word to the public and distribute the bread of life to your brothers and sisters and to the people who long for it. Or you draw from My Spirit within you and speak words of truth and life with your own words. And so there are many ways to distribute the bread of life. Serving your neighbour, supporting someone in their need, is also the bread of life. Or when you do not hold a grudge against someone, but remain in love when someone insults you, when someone wishes you ill. With your forgiveness, you also give the bread of life.

And so today I have also distributed the bread among you, and from the beginning of your existence I have placed this Word-Bread within you, which is to be revealed in this time, quite individually and in a very personal way. This time has now come, My beloved ones, so do not underestimate the value of your Irish existence. Take time to go into silence, listen to your soul, to your heart. Then the divine impulses will come, then you will hear My word within you. And this gives us an even more intimate connection, this intimacy of the soul, as I emphasise again and again.

Only you and I, My child, are then together in this hut, in this simple hut of your heart. There we sit together at a table and talk. You tell Me all your worries and thoughts and needs and joys and what you have done that day. I listen to you. And then I fill your words with My love and fill your thoughts with My love. And that is how it should be every day, this encounter with Me. I am always there and ready for you. As if you were the only person on this earth, I am there for you and wait eagerly for your word, for your love.

And so, My children, you are all essentially rough diamonds of My love, which I polish for one task or another. You are pearls of My love, which I string together to form a pearl necklace. This is the communion of your hearts, which is so important to Me and so important to you, this unity in love. My children, I conclude this celebration. And yet it is important to Me that you continue to exchange spiritual ideas, that you talk to each other about spiritual matters, for then the spirit becomes active in the heart. It moves and wants nourishment, and that is good.

So this year ends for you with this celebration, the year of celebrations. Yes, I have given you many words over the last two years. You have received much nourishment from My heart. But it is also important that you develop more independence, so that I may become even more alive in you in word and deed. And so, in future, I will keep My words a little shorter, so that you can exchange more during the celebrations, so that the Spirit can flow between you and your independence, your divine independence, can grow anew in love for Me, in love for one another and in love for your neighbours.

So be blessed at this hour and beyond. My blessing will never leave you. I will never leave you. The perspective in the spiritual home is a wonderful one, but now this life counts. This moment of eternity, which includes your earthly life, is important. To serve Me here and now in the love of your hearts is your task. Keep everything that comes after that, carry this treasure of blissful life in eternity and look into it occasionally, but what is important is the here and now.

So go forth courageously and bravely through the coming times. Do not lose heart and never give up when you fall. I am always ready and will reach out My hand to lift you up again. And then shake off the dust, for that is the world, and continue on My hand along this path, which is the path of truth and life. Yes, I Myself am this path, and I am the goal for every human being in this creation. Invisible to most, visible to you.
