

31 January 2026

Jesus says: My children, just as you have greeted each other warmly in this circle, rejoicing to meet each other again in My Spirit, so too am I rejoicing, and My heart is wide open that we have found each other again in this circle, where I spread My Word, where I spread My blessing over you. And so this day is a holiday for Me, because I can give My children My love, and for you, because you can receive My Word, the Word that I speak directly from My heart.

There is nothing in between, My children. Now I look upon you as if you had never sinned. 'Behold, I make all things new, I have said,' and so I speak now in this circle, that I look upon you all in this firstfruits of love, from which you once departed and into which I have called you back in this time.

And everything that lay in between and everything that still lies ahead of you, I set free in My love, so that nothing may stand between us on this day, but that you may receive My word completely freely and unburdened, detached from the world, unburdened by what has already happened, unburdened by what is yet to come. For now, only this one moment of eternity counts, which I now open in this time.

And when you sometimes find it difficult to turn to Me as the almighty God, when you have a guilty conscience because you have fallen, then do not regard Me as God, but as your divine Brother, whom I have become in My humanity for you. A brother full of understanding for your mistakes and weaknesses, for your struggles and imperfections. I stand beside you in your life's struggle, in your shame and sin, take you in My arms and say: My child, you are also My brother, you are also My sister – do not be afraid, I, Jesus Christ, as your brother, have paved the way for you into My divinity.

And so we walk together as brother and brother and as brother and sister, and you can give Me your complete trust when I say: I love you, I hold nothing against you, I understand you. I also had these struggles as a human being, difficult struggles, and sometimes I was on the brink, and yet I could not commit sin in My humanity, because love for the Father always saved Me and pulled Me out of the thoughts of the world and darkness. And so it shall also be with you, that you become more and more free from all the burdens of this world in your love for Me.

And so know this: in every human being, in every soul, I have created a space of freedom. What does this mean? This space of freedom is there so that you can live out the process of becoming free from sin. In this space of your soul, I accompany you – when you fall, when you forget that I am your Father and turn back to the world, when you fall back into old desires and urges, then I am with you in this space, which is a space of divine forgiveness and divine mercy.

In this space, I give you the freedom to experience this process of letting go and becoming free. In it, I give you the time you need to finally be in this state, which allows Me to flood this space completely with light and love, and that is then the birth into My Spirit. That is the act of completion that I bring about. But do not exploit this space of freedom for your own purposes. That is, when you feel that I forgive you again and again in your fallen humanity, do not exploit this, but use this space for yourselves to move forward in My accompanying mercy and love.

So do not be afraid when you fall, when you are not yet free from certain earthly bonds or whatever else it may be. In this space, I give you the time to become free step by step without Me pushing you. Yes, it is also a space of patience. Mercy and patience are one in the love that watches over everything.

So these are the words for now, My children. Words that are meant to fill you with confidence, that are meant to free your hearts in the certainty that I am giving you the time to walk this path with Me, free from fear and without compulsion. Even though I say that time is pressing, it is still Mine. I am Lord over time and I always have the last word, even about the events that are yet to come upon this earth. I alone say 'now!' or 'not yet!', even if the Antichrist is under the false belief that he determines when something happens. No, it is not so. I give the starting signal for the last act on this earth.

Now let Me direct your gaze to 'the new' that I have prepared and will soon bring to birth. I am building My kingdom of peace.

If you could see with spiritual eyes the extent to which the foundations for this have already been laid, you would be amazed. And your amazement could turn into pure enthusiasm when the foundations, some of which have been in place for a long time, rise up and, guided by My hand, take their place. I have filled them, largely in secret, as is still the case today, with My new wine. Their strength, courage and wisdom go far beyond their actual age.

When the precious new building blocks that My kingdom of peace needs to blossom in the splendour of My sun are born and fit into what already exists to work together with those already born, the jubilation of a new creation will roar through the heavenly realms.

Did I not say, 'There shall be a new heaven and a new earth'? My words, once spoken, will never pass away until they have been fulfilled. This happens first in the spiritual realm and then manifests itself in the semi-material and material realms, until everything that bears My life is transformed again and is in the spiritual home.

For you, this is still a distant prospect, so let us now look together at what is already growing in secret today: For your joy and thus also for My joy, I have called many of My greatest treasures from My treasury and gathered them around My throne to ask them if they would be willing to populate the New Earth in order to build the kingdom of peace there, 'on earth as it is in heaven'.

Those who look with alert eyes at the children who are now being born among you, who are already growing up, as well as at many of those who have already grown up, see My light shining from them. As a precaution, I have placed them in families and areas where they can grow through their earthly challenges, but will not be lost – for Me and My Kingdom.

My beloved ones, it is not a matter of asking Me now to give you this or that, whether it be provision, health or strength – no, you have received everything you need from Me to be harvest workers and thus builders of My kingdom of peace. Open your hearts! Let them expand into vessels that can receive My love in abundance, in overflowing measure! It is My love that awakens all the tasks slumbering within you and that will cause My Ruach Ha Kodesh to blossom, to burn, to pour forth. Do not ponder how this can happen, but surrender yourselves completely to Me, your King and Liberator!

I, Yahweh, Who Am, place you in the place and in the task that I have planned for you – as My pillars of light in My kingdom of peace! This will be the place, the time and the situation in which My will becomes one with your "I will!", and new things and miracles happen and arise everywhere!

My beloved sons and daughters, do not think yourselves too small or unworthy to work together with your King and Father. I have made you worthy by setting an example for you as Jesus, the Son of Man. I was human like you, but in the period of about thirty years, until My public ministry as the Son of God, day and night, every moment of My life, with every breath, I sought, longed for, prayed for the source of divinity within Me, the divine spark of spirit, which is in its nature like God Himself, since it comes from God, to spring forth, to blossom.

The divinity within Me was covered, as it is within you, but with the outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, I sent you My Ruach Ha Kodesh, so that you may work together with Him, grow, blossom, and even burn. You see that after My ascension, I did not leave you , for you now have My Holy Spirit at your side, and if you allow it, His fire burns in and through you. Seek and find the source of the divinity within you and melt together with it, with Me, in supernatural love.

Yes, My children, this hour is now drawing to a close. In the harmony of My Spirit, I have illuminated various topics for you and given you insights. You now have certain things to think about and consider: 'Where do I stand? How do I continue on my path?'

- I have laid it out for you, and yet each person walks their own unique path with My hand.

And so there will be more and more insights for this humanity, the complexity of everything that happens will become more and more visible, and that in the end everything is connected, that every thought a person thinks, every word and every deed is connected to all other thoughts, words and deeds, not only on this earth, but throughout creation. That everything, even the labyrinth of wisdom, the branching out of wisdom, will diverge more and more, and there will be more and more new insights concerning My divinity, concerning creation, united in Me – thus humanity will enter into a sea of light and knowledge.

And yet, My children, at the end of all this knowledge, everything flows back together into One.

- And that is love. And when a child of God is one with this love, then it can see the entire complexity of all being and happening in this creation at a glance, then it no longer needs these paths of knowledge and experience, but a single world opens up, a world of love in which everything is contained; in which My child will no longer ask and seek, but will see and contemplate My works, which are all connected and interwoven and form a unity, an infinite unity – and that is love. Therefore, seek only love, for in it you will be given everything, in it you will never have to seek again, but may find, contemplate with My eyes, with My heart.

These are My parting words to you, which I place in your hearts. And so I bless you once again, lay My hands upon you, that you may be strengthened for the time to come. Whatever may happen, I am with you, so do not be afraid, but rejoice that you may be with Me, when so many people are wandering around on this earth who have no spiritual home, who do not know why they are on this earth, who despair, who kill themselves – and that is a sad affair. But your life has been given meaning through Me, and that is the only meaning and purpose that exists in infinity. Rejoice that you have come to this state of grace. Amen."
