I have opened my heart wide for this moment. This moment in time in which eternity has opened. Now that I have entered this space to bless My children who long for Me, who carry a longing for love and truth within them in this darkness of the earth, who have found the light within themselves, in which they have recognised that life is only worth living in Me, that only in Me is there security to be found. This security, My children, you have longed for so much, the world cannot give it to you, only I can give it to you.

And so I have fanned the light in your hearts - more and more. And you have recognised the power that lies in this light, the power of love, in which you may live and which you may pass on to those whom I lead to you. And you have also realised that this light burns in every heart, to a greater or lesser extent. And that this light is reflected in the hearts of all people when you are willing not to condemn them but to meet them with the love of your hearts.

And so I have brought you on this path. Once you set out and went out into this time, into this special time, this dangerous time. Yes, it is an adventure to live and survive on this earth. And I have guided you in such a way that you have arrived at a point in your earthly existence where you are ready to receive My Word, where you also recognise the value of this Word that I speak to you.

Yes, you are ready to open your hearts to My love, to the power of My love, so that I can show you what kind of loving and caring God I am, who also has a yearning within Himself, who carries within Himself a yearning for His children who have gone into the distance.

Just as earthly parents also carry a pain within them when their children move away, when the son goes to war, when the daughter moves out into the world and takes a husband, the mother's care goes with her - and so I also have this love, this care and this longing within me, that my child may be well and that my child may one day return to me again - in the free love of his heart.

There are many reasons why I have taken on a body as God. One reason is that you need a personality that you can love, and not an anonymous God who lives somewhere, a God of infinity who permeates and interweaves everything - to love this God is not easy. But you can love God in a person who has created a body for His children. Yes, in this way the child can love Me as God. And so you, as My children, recognise the love of the Heavenly Father in Me as an accessible person, Jesus Christ.

And so I stand before My children in this form, in this essence of Christ, the Messiah, the Redeemer, and make you realise that I Am a God who is accessible, who you can approach, with whom you can speak at any time, who takes you in His arms and comforts you when you are in need. Yes, I am a servant of men and not a ruler. I do rule the universe and everything that moves in infinity is governed by me, and yet I do not meet my children in the omnipotence of my divinity, but as a father in humility, in love and gentleness.

Only in this way, My children, can you reach Me. Only across this bridge can you enter into My Heart. This is why I have brought you here today, so that a door may open for you in these words, to enter into My Heart and to meet Me in the simplicity of love. Because love, My children, as you know, is not complicated. Love is the simplest thing in this world. And so love for Me is also something very simple.

And because it is so simple, people do not come to love Me in this simple love of the heart, to come to Me and say, 'My Father, here I am, Your child. I have longed for You, now I come to You with the request, Take me into your heart-Father-love.' And I will do it and as a heavenly Father prepare a banquet for My children on this joyful day when My child has recognised Me as a loving God.

I have indeed brought into being the law of cause and effect in this creation. Yes, if you do something that harms you, pain will surely come. You can see that in the material world: if you hurt yourself, if you bang your head, the pain is sure to come. And it is the same in the spiritual realm. Yet through My act of Salvation, I have made it so that when a child comes to Me and says, 'Dear Father, here I am, accept me as I am. I want to be a child of Your love.'

Then I say: My child, I accept you, and if you endeavour to sin no more from now on, I, as your heavenly Father, will write your sins in the sand, then I will clear up your past, and I have already done it. Then you are free from every burden, free from guilt and atonement.

Through my act of Salvation, through my sacrifice on the cross, I have atoned for the sins of all people before the holiness of God, before my very own holiness. Because nothing imperfect can stand before the holiness of the Godhead, and so I have taken upon myself all imperfection, have atoned for your imperfection, atoned out of love for you. And so you are now free when you abandon yourselves to Me, when you love Me, your heavenly Father, in Jesus Christ.

Love God above all else and, out of this love, your neighbour as yourself. Yes, the soul also has a power of love to a certain extent. But only I, My children, can love one's enemies, the all-forgiving love. And you can only do it in unity, in communion with Me. Only when My spirit fills your soul will you have the power to forgive those who do you no good, your enemies.

Then it is no longer the human that works, but the divine. In this forgiving and pardoning, in this power of love, your soul will flourish, because God's might and power unfolds above all in this all-forgiving love. And you will only come to Me, My children, if you love Me in Jesus Christ. I am the way, the truth and the life. You are already walking on this way and you also know the truth, My children, and life awaits you in love for Me.

That is it, My children, what I can give you according to your free will, for I do not infringe upon it. I have given Myself a commandment which says: My children have free will and only in this can they return to Me. There is no free love in the law and there is no free love in judgment either. Free love only exists when hearts are unattached, when hearts can move freely without living in captivity to the dogmas of this earth.

Yet there is a fundamental truth, a foundation of truth, and that is I. I have placed you on this foundation, and you can move freely on this foundation – you can walk on it, My ways, but by virtue of your free will you can also take other paths at any time; you are always free in your will.

What, then, My children, can fan your love for Me more and more? What can you do to achieve this? For many of My children feel the longing within themselves: I would like to love God much more and yet I do not know how to do it. I feel a longing for love, but I cannot apply it, I do not know how to proceed! And that, My children, is where the request comes into play, because it does say: 'Ask and it will be given to you; knock and it will be opened to you.

Therefore, your request should be: 'Dear Father, I ask You to open Your heart to me more and more and to open my heart even more to You, so that I may recognise Your love more and more and more deeply. This way, a firm bond of love will arise between our hearts.

You can speak to Me as you would to a brother, to a best friend, to a father, to a mother, quite naturally and freely, without compulsion, without ceremony, without mystical posturing, I do not need that. I want natural children who talk to Me in their own way, that is what I expect from you, and not sacred words and ceremonies.

Then you will see that we meet more and more often in this request and in this gift from Me, and that requires this progress, this deification of the soul, this filling with My Spirit. Yes, imagine that we meet, imagine that I stand before you in the form of Jesus Christ and we look each other in the eye and we take each other by the hand.

My children, know that what you imagine in your love for Me has reality in the spiritual world. This love will unfold in you and we will meet more and more often and your longing for Me, for this love and security, will become ever stronger. Like a magnet, our hearts will attract each other and you will recognise more and more the truth of your God, who is only love and who wants to give Himself in His divinity to His children.

So you may penetrate ever deeper into My Being, into My Divinity, I have prepared this for you. You cannot yet fathom what it means to have this eternal life at My side, in My Heart. And yet, a child who loves Me can sense what is hidden in this love of My heart, can sense that I want to fill My child with this love beyond measure, that this is My great need and also My joy. Yes, the bliss of God consists in making My children happy in eternity.

So I have now also opened the gate to the beyond, so that many may come in with me to this meeting here with you. I have called your deceased family members who wanted to hear this call – there are probably not all of them and yet there are many here who are part of this community, who now feel this blessing of my presence in their hearts, this impulse of love from my heart.

They may now look into this room, some see Me from afar, like a distant light, some are already closer and can understand the words I speak, and some are present here; these are the ones I have already prepared and prepared in the great beyond, so that they then have only a short way to go when they hear My word.

So every meeting where I am present with my children is always a work of redemption for many, because what I do as God, I do both in small and at the same time in large, and this small and large together forms this unity of this ceremony with the irradiation from heaven with the blessing from my heart. And it is always something wonderful for those whom I also invite, to whom I give the opportunity to recognise that I am a God of love.

And so I say to you in the beyond: Come to Me, all you who labour and are heavy laden. Recognise Me as God of love, recognise that it is My desire that you reach your spiritual home. To do this, you must let go of your ties to the world; give me your past, give me your ideas about God and the world, free yourselves from this consciousness that binds you to darkness, so that I can enter your souls and guide you with the help of my thoughts. So take these words, they are true and certain, as true and certain as I am God the Almighty and Father to My children in the service of love.

My children, you cannot see it and yet it is the case that much is now happening around you, that many angelic beings have swarmed out to take these souls by the hand, to offer them the opportunity to move on, to be able to break away from this world, to enter the other world, the world of light and love. And so it happens all the time, I am always ready to make My creatures My children.

My creatures, these are also those who regard life as a matter of chance and fate; they are blind, lost and deaf and think they are alive, but they are dead.

And then there are those whom I lead and have already led into the light as Heavenly Father. These are the ones whom I take and have taken out of the law and place into the mercy of My love – these are My children.

My children, there is a great difference: mercy redeems, the law judges. I write the mistakes, the sins, everything that My child has done wrong in his life, which he carries with him as ballast and therefore often cannot find joy in life because the past weighs him down and consumes him, into the sand that the breath of My grace blows away.

Therefore come to Me, I will take every burden from you and I have already taken it from you, you just have to recognise it and accept it from My hand. And so you can enter the time that is now approaching you full of joy and trust, a time that will demand a lot from you, a time that you can only pass through unscathed by holding on to My hand. Yes, not just unscathed, but growing, growing rapidly, because the trust and devotion that the coming time demands will lead you even deeper into My heart. This is an opportunity you have, because every adversity offers possibilities that do not exist when you are doing well.

It is said that adversity teaches a person to pray and makes them crawl to the creaks. And a person who already prays will open up even more in their prayers in adversity and surrender themselves completely to Me. Because when a person no longer knows how to cope with the events in this world, he comes to Me, clings to Me and says, 'My Father, help me. I can no longer bear to see what is happening in this world. It weighs heavily on me, it fills me with worry and fear, also for my children, for my relatives. Help!

Then I say: Entrust everything to Me and remain in trust and love. Whether I then call a person to the beyond or not should not play a role. I guide My child in the beyond just as I do in this world, admittedly in a different way, but also on the same path. Therefore, put your trust in Me, leave everything that weighs on you to Me – I am always there for you.

And you will recognise and experience the wonders I perform for those who love Me. Because then I consider the life of My child as My own life, yes, I not only consider it as such but I also treat it as such, so that it becomes a life and a love.... Father and child as one in one spirit, that is My divine desire.

My children, I see in your hearts this longing for the realisation of My words, so do everything you can to continue on this path with Me. Do not listen to the voices of the world, but hold on to Me, to My word. Trust that I love you always and am always there for you and will never leave you - not in time and not in eternity. Amen.'
