

04-06.10.2024.

Thus I have come to touch your hearts, to fill your souls with My love in this way you are walking in this time of darkness. Yes, I always do it when you abandon yourselves to Me in the silence of your mind, in the holy space of your hearts, in which I dwell; and I also do it when you have strayed from the straight path, when you have lost yourselves anew in the world. For you have often strayed and still stray, tearing yourselves away from My hand. For you still hold the world tightly by the other hand, and so the world pulls, pushes and tugs at you, causing you to fall. Yet I do not tug at your hand, My children, but hold it very lightly, holding you as lightly as a breath.

And so it is that if My child does not surrender itself into this breath from My heart, the world will snatch My child from Me and lead it back into the darkness and gloom of material desires. And, My children, know that it hurts Me, it also saddens a God when My children move away from Me, when I know that it will harm My child, it will hurt his soul; and yet I can do nothing, because free will always remains. So it is up to you, only up to you, to turn to Me again.

And then I come with all My divine love, standing there with open arms and an open heart to take you back again. I always do it this way. And actually, I am mainly concerned with bringing lost children back by placing an impulse in the heart and communicating it to the child: My child, what you are doing is wrong. If you do this, you will lose Me for a certain period of time. And yet it is usually the case that the child wants to go its own way again, in its own sense and in its own love. And yet you also know: I forgive you everything because I have already accepted you as My children - and there is no turning back, neither for Me nor for you.

And so I stand here now with outstretched arms, with a heart full of love, ready to give you nourishment: the bread from heaven and the wine that you drink. Eating the bread means following Me in the knowledge of truth and love, and drinking the wine means doing My works in and from it. And both belong together, are one. Only in this way does your life make sense. I am the meaning of your life. I am the fulfilment of your longing. Only I alone can give you what you long for both in the depths of your soul and on the physical surface. This longing to be secure in Me, already on this earth.

And when a child has entered into this trust and into this security in Me, then anything can happen in the world. Violence, war and death can rage around you. What does it matter to you with Me, since I am life and truth? Therefore, hold on to Me at all times. Remain with Me, that is My wish. Then there will no longer be this ups and downs in your life, then there will be consistency. Then the soul will be filled more and more by My spirit.

When a child consistently stays by My side, I will guide it into the realm of love in no time at all – in Me, it can happen very quickly. Are you ready for this? Yes, you have entered time, the realm of matter, but now it is time for Me to take you out of this raging torrent of time and place you in the eternity of love. So I give you these words as a gift.

And know also that I have woven a bond of love between your hearts so that you may move here in My Spirit in love and harmony - both in body and in spirit. I am your centre. I am the ray that connects you. I am the love that unites you. I am the foundation on which you stand. Your Heavenly Father in Jesus Christ. So be blessed.

Just as you have opened your hearts, My children, so have I opened My Heart. I have not only entered this room, but I have entered your hearts and have gathered the destinies that are here in My love and have taken the ends of your ways into My hand. And these ends, these conclusions of your path up to this point, I now illuminate with the light of My love, My gentleness and mercy, for I have entered this room not as almighty God, who rules this creation, now, here, from this place, but as Heavenly Father, as Brother, as best Friend.

You will only find spiritual perfection in the simplicity of love, because love is not complicated, and those who walk the path of love recognise how simple life basically is; and those who walk the path of love also also walks the path of trust in Me and walks the path of humility in view of the fact that I am everything in My child and thus My child can be everything in Me, in this love for one another, in this divine friendship.

And so it is My great desire that you speak to Me as you would to a best friend, to a brother, to a father whom you trust in all matters of life. In the second person, in these simple words that all My children can understand, I speak to you and so you also speak to Me in this simplicity: 'My Father, here I am, this is how I stand before You, now, I cannot do otherwise. Please accept me as I am; I give You my heart, that is my need,' you say, My child, and I also say: My child, I give you My heart.

With these words, My children, I have now opened heaven, because heaven is My heart, and you feel this radiation, you feel this unity of love in which you now find yourselves, with Me in the centre as your heavenly Father. And so you already have a small taste of what awaits you one day: to live in this harmony of love, to be at My side in this eternal security.

That is the longing within you that I have seen and that is why I have led you here, to open you up a little to this longing, the bread of life, to be here in the centre and to give you light. You have gone into the darkness of this world, you have dared to take on a body in this time to place yourselves at the service of love for me. That is what you set out to do, that is what you decided on in the freedom of your love, and you did it to live on this earth; this daring to endure in this darkness.

And yet you have accepted something of this darkness in the course of your life, that cannot be avoided, because matter is dead, and you have accepted a dead body in order to bring this too to salvation. Yes, I go even further and say: Every thought that connects you with matter connects you with death; and that is why, My children, I entered into the death of the earth and of all worlds and placed redemption in it through My sacrifice on the cross, through My blood. I permeated death with My blood and gave it life.

So it is now, My children, when you walk this path with Me, then I enter into this death with you always, then you do not find death in matter, but life through Me and with Me. This is the great gift that children of God receive from Me, that they no longer have to live in death in this world, but may already be alive together with Me. And when you occupy yourselves with material things without Me, then you bind your soul again to death in certain aspects of your consciousness, and then it is necessary to break away from it again, and that is also only possible with Me – so you need Me all the time.

Many of My children keep losing Me on this path through the darkness, and I see that and I know that, and I am prepared for that, because free will is always given; and when you have gone back into death, then I reach out My hand to you, open My heart, and a ray of light goes out into the darkness and writes the name Jesus Christ in capital letters again in your hearts, so that you reflect in the darkness and recognise: Yes, my Father is there and is waiting for me, therefore I turn around and go back to him again, because there is no life in the darkness, and without my Jesus I cannot find any happiness and no joy.

Live in the awareness, My children, that I am your everything and your all, your longing, your joy. Yes, the conditions on this earth have become very harsh indeed. A child to whom I open My eyes can see the great discrepancy between divine life and what is now happening on this earth. The entire system is a house of cards that could collapse at any moment. Yet the battle rages on - for you as well. That is why it is necessary for Me to speak to you, to draw your attention to the fact that you must hold on to Me very tightly and that you cannot do it without Me.

Yes, I will come into the world like a thief in the night, and it is written: 'Then the heavens will pass away, the elements will be destroyed by fire, and the works of men will no longer be found, and I will make a new heaven and a new earth.' Now you ask, My child: My Father, what does 'the heavens will pass away' mean, what is the meaning of Your words? I say to you, My children, here the heavens of men are meant, which they have made for themselves, their wrong ideas about heaven, the error that one goes to heaven immediately after death, the heavens of men's enjoyment of matter - all this will disappear.

And the elements, that is the wrong thoughts of people on the most diverse levels of earthly existence, they will burn in the fire of truth. And the works of men will no longer be found means: What people have achieved in their science, as well as the royal houses and rulers who have exercised their power and are still alive or dead in the consciousness of people, and the rulers of the religions who have led astray and used for their own purposes, all these will no longer be found, because I am making a new earth and a new heaven, which means: I will unite heaven and earth into one, so that there will be one world, a world of love and truth. That is the meaning of this saying.

It is not the earth that will burn, My children, but the works that have been done on it. So you know that you are living in this time, in this transformation. And when I say: I will come like a thief in the night, it does not concern you, My children, because I have already come to you, the day has already dawned for you - and basically I have never left My children. And so I am not with you now as God, the Almighty, as the judge of the world, but as the Father of your hearts.

Yes, great adversity will come upon this earth, great misery and lamentation and shouting will prevail. But I say to you: this adversity is only on the surface of matter, in time, a judgment for men. In the depth of the spirit, in the face of eternity, one regards this trouble with my eyes, and then it is mercy, which happens. Mercy, to rescue what is to be rescued, to draw and lead to my heart, those who still carry a spark of love in themselves, no matter in which world view and religion they stand. First and foremost, only the love of the heart counts.

In the great beyond there are then sufficient possibilities to guide the souls on My ways, to lead them to Me, so that they may recognise Me one day, their Father in heaven in Jesus Christ. Because only through Me can a soul enter heaven. There is no other door that leads to My heart – and you are ready to enter. And yet it is so that I still have to remove some stains from the soul of each of you. You know about this necessity, because only perfection can enter heaven.

And therefore, whatever you encounter in the near future, know that it comes from My heart. And the more unpleasant it seems to you at the moment, the stronger the agent of purity works. Therefore trust Me even in adversity, no matter what form it takes, it is always I who is at work. Because once a child has entrusted itself to Me, it belongs to Me. Then I treat My child as if it were My own life. And a God will not throw away His own life, but will do everything to ensure that it returns to Its perfection.

Therefore, My children, be comforted and rejoice on this day of rejoicing, when Heaven has opened here. And so I have already united Heaven and Earth here, as I will one day do to bring the Kingdom of Peace to this Earth. Thus you have a taste of this awareness of heavenly love.

And if you could now look at this room with spiritual eyes, you would see that it is filled with light and love. A radiance from heaven, a radiance and reflection in the hearts, towards Me and back. Yes, there is great joy in the light that has now penetrated the darkness and is creating something lasting in your hearts. I have gathered your ways in My heart; and the further ways you go go out of My heart. And I go with you, with My peace, with My blessing.

My dears, actually a few of My words would suffice. And if you were to put them into practice, it would be enough to perfect you. And yet it is so that I want to fulfil the desires and longings of My children for the bread of life to the extent that My children expect it in their hearts. And yet I know and see your joy when I speak to you through this, My Son, whom I have prepared as an instrument to serve Me in this love. For I have taken him out of My heart and only in this way can he open himself to you and only in this way can I communicate Myself through him.

And I have other instruments that will speak harsher and sharper words to people. But his task is to communicate My love to My children, to bring My presence close to My children and to reveal to you that I am with you all the time, that I have opened My heart wide, that I am a heavenly Father to you, who has erected no abyss, no bridge, no barrier between our hearts.

And, My children, I want you to speak with Me in a very natural way, without ceremony, without embellished clothing or whatever people have made for themselves in the belief that they should approach Me in this way. You do not need any of that. Come to Me as you are, with all your burdens and troubles; I will take them from you at all times - to the extent that you trust Me.

And if you give Me a little, then I will take a little from you. And if you give Me more, then I will take more from you. And if you give Me everything, then I will take everything from you. It is as simple as that. That is love. That is Me. God Almighty for this creation, loving Father to My children. And forgiveness, My children, is the basic requirement for entering My heavens. Everything must be cleared up on earth, where it is easier than to do it in the hereafter.

Now think firmly of this or that person whom you have not been able to forgive. Now this person, who is bound within you, will be pulsed and radiated with this light, so that the darkness in which you and he have placed each other through your irreconcilability and dislike, through your punishing mercilessness, will be flooded with this light. And this light, which now permeates the person in you in this space of your soul, now also arises in this person's soul outside of you – a small, tiny light, and yet it is there.

And this small light can one day ignite this person's conscience, so that he recognises that it was and is a wrong action towards you or your loved ones. Through your willingness to give life to My forgiveness within you, you have now placed the light of realisation of their actions in these souls. And so it is a wonderful blessing, not only for you, but also for this or these people, who now stand in My blessing through your forgiveness. Because that is what it is all about, My children: to redeem. And by forgiving, you give these people the opportunity to also go this way, to enter into this redemption. Because whatever is resolved on earth, you know that it is also resolved in heaven, it is also resolved in Me.

And so you will meet these people one day in the bright worlds and there will be great joy and a warm embrace in the knowledge: 'Now all is well. My enemy is now my best friend and my brother, for he has repented of his evil deeds with all his heart.' And this love has a heavenly quality, much more than the love for your fellow human beings who are well-disposed towards you. Love of one's enemy is the greatest love. I have exemplified this love. I sacrificed Myself on the cross, also for Satan, so that this flame may also be kindled in him, this small spark of divine forgiveness.

Yes, My sacrifice on the cross has many effects, but one aspect of it is that I have forgiven Satan everything and thus placed this light in his heart, against which he still resists and struggles. But through this he is given the opportunity to recognise Me not in enmity but in love. This gift that I have now given you, My children, keep it in your hearts; do not throw it away but remain in this awareness and in this freedom of love. For your love remains bound until you have released everything and no longer hold anything back for yourselves in enmity and irreconcilability.

My children, certain parts of your hearts are still bound, but a part of you has now been set free by Me. And so I would like to free your hearts bit by bit from everything that still needs it, so that you can enter into this My Spirit already on this earth.

The more space you give Me within you, the more you can serve Me, the more I can fulfil you, elevate you into My spirit, rapture you into My spirit, already here on this earth. I have prepared this for you, I want to give it to you and I see your readiness: 'Yes, Jesus, take me, here I am, my life belongs to You!' But don't just say it, My children, but live it in this consequence of love for your neighbour and unconditional trust in Me.

Yes, when adversity comes, do not run away from it, but stand as role models in faith, in unshakable faith: 'I have entrusted my life to Jesus, I have no fear, I belong to Him after all, His will be done with me.' So shall you speak, My children, and not be full of fear and worry about what may yet come. I will lead you out of this consciousness of worry and fear of the antichristian events. Know also that I will always provide nourishment for you, and if you pray before you eat, truly in this request and in the belief that I bless your nourishment, then this nourishment will not harm you, but I will cleanse it.

This trust in the intake of food is also part of the life of faith of My child. Include everything that occupies you in your faith. I have power over everything; there are no limits for Me; I do not say: I will do this for you and not that, no, I do everything, therefore give Me everything and entrust everything to Me: yourselves, your family, your friends, your colleagues at work, the people you meet on the street. Speak to them silently in your hearts: 'Jesus bless you'. And if a person behaves strangely on the street, shouting, drunk, accosting other people, do not judge him, but say, 'Jesus bless you' – it could be a fallen angel.

During this time, you have the task of educating your children to the best of your knowledge and belief. Always bear in mind that you yourselves have struggles to overcome, that you yourselves must wrestle for your faith and for My presence. But on the whole, you educate your children from an early age in such a way that they know what love is. That they have come to know God and that you also place them, as far as possible, in a protected environment – as long as the environment and everyday life permit. Then there comes a time when every person's free will comes to the surface and penetrates the child in adolescence, and then they want to establish their own world and break out of this protected space.

That is the time when parents lose their power over their children – not the power of love, because love remains, but the grip is often lost. That is when I step in, because then I say: My beloved, I take responsibility for your children. Then the time has come when I, as Father and God, call them My children again. And then they are no longer yours, but mine, which they actually always were, but which I gave into your care. That had to be so that they could start in this earthly incarnation.

And yet it is the case that from a certain point in time the freedom of the soul is above all else and then I bear sole responsibility for my child, because they are my children in the truest sense. You, as parents, should live in the awareness that they are truly My children and that I am responsible for them – from now until eternity. They belonged to you only for a brief moment of their existence – and that is good. During this time, you have learned what it means to be a father and mother in order to recognise the love between a father or mother and child.

In this you can also recognise and see in the correspondence the love of the heavenly Father for you as a child. It is a gift that you can have these experiences, so that you may find My love for you in your childlike love. Whether they are your own children or adopted does not matter, because you have also accepted your own children from My hand. That is why it is important that you consciously hand over responsibility for these children to Me, release them and let go of their souls so that they can connect with Me.

Because if you cling to these souls, they are still trapped in your will and do not have the opportunity to enter into this freedom, which is so important for them. Then it is a pseudo-freedom in which they cannot continue on their path in the divine sense. Nevertheless, it is important that you continue to love your children and pray for them; that should be the connection that remains between your hearts. But not a claim of ownership, that belongs to Me alone.
