

15.12.2024

You have opened your hearts, you are in expectation and joyful anticipation of My Word. Thus I have spread My love here, a love that only God can give, a love that draws you and guides you through this world with patience and care, a love that sacrificed itself on the cross for you and takes upon itself all adversity. Yes, you can give Me all your troubles – and there is no child in this world who does not carry a trouble within themselves.

My children who have decided to turn away from the sin of this world enter into a life of struggle, have to wrestle and fight hard with the lower energies, which they have taken up over all these years. And what appears to be normal for the deluded human race, as a normal life, My children recognise as sin and as a barrier that they must overcome, as dark spots in their soul that must be cleared up; because only then, My children, is it possible for them to enter My heart for good. Only a child who has become perfect in My love can enter the high heaven of love.

Yes, it is so that My children actually go astray every day anew, they do not live free of sin, because it is very difficult to be completely free of sin on this earth. Yes, every day anew I am ready to write your sins in the sand, to acquit you of sin before the holiness of My love. Just as I once entered into the death of this earth, so do I now, by entering into your deaths, to bring about your resurrection there together with you, valid already in time and valid for all eternity.

But it is usually the case that this earthly life is a preparation and the final perfection only takes place in the world beyond. For most people, no preparation takes place at all; instead, they enter the beyond and there, disoriented, trapped in their desires and addictions, they wander around without light and without true love. So you see the favour in which you stand, to be led to the heavenly gate already here. And I show you everything that is needed so that you may be freed from the bonds of this world, so that you may enter into my kingdom.

For this you need My spirit, My children, because only My spirit gives the necessary light for the right realisation. And how do you come to this divine realisation of the spirit? It is love. Love for Me opens the light in your hearts. And so you see, it is a cycle: love for Me gives you the gift of realisation full of light, and the right point of view in turn enables you to be born into love.

So every day is a day of salvation that I have prepared for you. But I can only give you this salvation if you are willing to turn your hearts to Me daily. If you are willing to align your life with Mine. And so you see how important it is to give Me the first thoughts that arise in you, even in the morning. To start the day with a prayer: 'My Saviour, this is a new day, which I would like to live and love for You. Be You my leader, my companion and my protector.

With these thoughts, My children, you have already opened the door for My spirit, My light and My love to shine into your sphere and thus accompany you throughout the day. And if you go through the day attentively and mindfully, you will always be aware that I am with you. Then you cannot be taken by surprise by situations in which you react impulsively, in which old conditioning dominates you again and you then fall back into the old person that you no longer want to be.

Yes, I want to make new people out of you, new people, born in Me, born again in My love. I have prepared this for each and every one of you, and I want to lead you into it. That is the reason why you came to this earth. I am the only reason. To give Me this short time here on this earth and then enter into an eternal life at My side. Therefore give Me your lives, My children, every day anew. Be ready to serve Me, to walk with Me always.

In the silence of your hearts, My children, I have built an abode for Myself. A simple dwelling in which I await you daily. In this dwelling I am actually a lonely God, for I have shut myself in it for each of you. With the great yearning that only a God can have, that My child may open this door and enter into his heart, I knock softly each day gently on this door - hardly audibly, certainly not in the noise of the world. But in the silence, especially in the silence of the night, when you go to bed, when everything around you has come to rest, a gentle breeze passes through your soul, a soft touch on your hearts.

But most of the time, you are preoccupied with the thoughts of the day - the past and the coming day. They revolve around you and draw your consciousness away from Me. And then I remain alone again and continue to wait for you to declare your willingness to meet Me in the silence of your hearts, to meet Me in this love that I have placed in you, that is reflected in My heart. And this reflection of our hearts is the longing in us, like two magnets that attract each other.

But I do not only do this at night and in the evening, but each of My children also has spaces during the day, which I create, in which they can withdraw. And if it is only for a short time, a few minutes, half an hour or more. And if you then become very still, My child, if you give your thoughts to Me and quietly and gently listen into your heart, you will hear My Word.

Then you will feel the gentle breeze that flows from My heart through your soul. Then, for this moment, this one love will awaken in you, which you long for so much. This My love, which is your life and which takes you out of the death of this world. And then you will seek these moments more and more often, the times of silence and calm and seclusion from the world.

You will no longer turn on your television so often or read your newspaper, because time will become a valuable commodity for you. The best currency in this world is time, if you use it right. And then we will meet more and more often, My child, day and night. And there will be times when you will make a firm resolution. And full of anticipation you will then enter into that quiet space of your heart where I stand with open arms, waiting for you, and we will embrace in that unspeakable divine love that dwells in you and that is just waiting to receive you, to transform you, to make you happy.

And eventually it will be a permanent state and you will no longer have to enter this space, but this space will become your home, and that is My presence within you and that is the fulfilment with My spirit. Then you will always be enveloped in this silent love and you may already walk transformed over this earth. Then you will no longer need to meet Me, because then you will live constantly in My presence, in My love and in this joy of being with your Jesus always. Yes, that is already possible on this earth.

Therefore, let Me be born in you, My children. This is what the symbol of Christmas shows you. So let the little Jesus in you, who lies in a miserable manger, which is your miserable heart, be born in you in your world of darkness. And so that this Jesus then becomes ever greater and ever stronger in you, the spirit of Jesus unfolds in you and this Jesus grows up in you and takes shape more and more in you, so that in the end you can say: 'Now it is no longer I who live, but My Jesus lives in me.'

My children, you cannot fathom the meaning of these words. For they require a complete transformation of your soul and your consciousness. A life in this love, in this My love, cannot be compared to the life that people here on this earth call life and love. Because everything you receive then is love for you. Every thought you think, every person you look at, you fill with love and at the same time fill yourself with a sense of security that cannot be described. Then there will be no more death for you, but only liveliness and love in Me.

This is rebirth into the Spirit. And you, My children, I have led on this path, on this path with Me. It can only lead to this birth, to this rebirth, to this new birth in Me. There is no other goal. Therefore, do not be hesitant and think, 'I cannot reach this goal.' No, My children, I draw you and lead you and that is why I call you together, so that we may reach this goal together, this highest goal that a person can reach.

You are standing on the foundation of truth and you are being led by love; that is the way to the new birth. There is no other way. And there are not many people on this earth who are blessed with this grace. Yet I have led you this way. Why have I chosen you in particular? Many of you are now thinking, 'Yes, why me? There are many other people who are much more loving than I am. They are not so full of sin and not too lukewarm or stubborn or whatever.'

My children, I know exactly who I must call and who is ready to enter and return home. I know exactly which soul has already had all the necessary experiences, which soul is already prepared so that it can happen. You cannot recognise that. And yet you are the ones in whom I can now close this cycle of becoming and passing away so that you may enter into My Spirit. And it is important that you believe in it. So accept these words of mine as true and do not take the path of false humility by saying, 'No, I am not worthy of it.' True humility says, 'My God, without You my life is not worth living. Without You it is not possible to go this way. I need You, for You perfect me.

So walk by My hand, My children, until I also let go of you once in the trials, so that you increasingly learn to stand on your own spiritual legs. In this you prove your loyalty to Me, which is so important - an inventory of where you stand. You need these trials and these challenges, also to unfold divine power in you, which I have placed in you. Your own spiritual-divine life must unfold.

You will only walk by My hand as long as you cannot stand on your own spiritual legs. Not that I will then leave you, but then you are left to your own devices with My Spirit and I as a person am at times invisible to you, but My Holy Spirit is then at work in you, He then belongs to you indelibly. All My children must learn to stand on their own two feet in order to become spiritually mature. This is necessary.

And so this is a foresight. But not only a foresight, but it is a certainty for you. It should be a certainty for you that it can happen this way. And one thing is very important: you decide for yourselves to what extent you go this way. It is not I who makes this decision and says, 'You can go this far or you can only go this far.' You make the decision yourselves. Your trust and devotion to give Me your life and to serve Me determine the extent to which I can guide you. To what extent you put My word into practice and thereby bring it to life in you, to that extent can I guide you.

If you give Me only half of yourselves and continue to give the other half to the world, then I can only lead you half way – and so on. I can give Myself completely only to children who give Me their whole heart and turn away from a world that offers only death and destruction. Therefore, give yourselves to Me, My children; entrust your life to Me, and I will give you My life. I tell you exactly what separates you from Me. I tell you in these quiet hours of solitude and in your encounters with Me.

So now it is necessary that you quietly digest these words for a while, My children, and contemplate them with your heart so that they become your own, so that they take shape within you, and that you recognise the importance and truthfulness of these words that are meant to accompany you.

You must penetrate even deeper into the word that I give you, to the bottom of the word, which is My love, because here I myself am the word that I give you. From this love, express Me and put Me in you. It is divine love-consciousness that I give you, so that you may bring it to resurrection in you, so that you may resurrect together with Me in Me.

I see in your hearts this bliss of being allowed to spend time with Me on this earth. There is great joy in your hearts that you have found Me and are allowed to live with Me in this darkness of the world. A great gift – because there is also the foresight, My children, of what is coming upon you on the outside. Because the time of the great tribulation is not yet here in this country, as I emphasised yesterday.

The last trumpet has already sounded, but its echo has not yet reached this country. And so I am holding back the adversity so that My children will have a little more time to prepare, so that you will find even more fulfilment in Me and more support. So that you will stand even firmer on the foundation of My presence and My love. This is necessary so that you will not fall in the storm that will rage over this country.

For then it is necessary that you entrust yourselves to Me in life and death with the words, 'My Father, Your will be done. Even if You take away my earthly home, if You take away this body of mine, it is good. Because I know that everything you allow to happen to your child serves a divine purpose. Yes, My children, serve only one purpose: to lead you into the greatest possible bliss in eternity.

And for that, areas of the soul that you have not yet fully recognised must be opened and healed. This usually requires challenges and hardships, including mental pain – the battle with the elements of the soul must be, My children. I am not warning you of this, but I am telling you so that you may be prepared. Not that I do these things, but they are allowed to happen so that people may fulfil the measure of their sin, that the point may be reached where I say, 'Stop, no further!' Then I will stretch out My long arm over this earth, against which many will crash.

But for you, My children, this arm is the support and the foundation of My love. And so you still have a little time and I say it again: do not worry so much about what is happening in other countries now, because it has to happen that way. When the storm comes in here, you will be affected soon enough to be able to endure in this unity with Me in the last days and months. You have to be very close to Me then, there must be no distance between us anymore.

Then you must have let go of the last clutches on this world, because then you must take hold of Me with both hands and be with Me with all your heart. Only in this way will you be safe in the worst and most terrible storm. Then I will speak in your soul and will command the storm within you to be still. Thus you will defy the outer storm in this security of My love and all will be well for you.

And so you know what is needed. Therefore, make an effort and jump over your own shadow. Put away what is to be put away, for I will come like a thief in the night and suddenly everything will be different. And then you must be ready. But you should not look ahead and into the future with worry and fear, but with the joy that I am telling you this and that I will then be there for you as a father, as a true father to my children. And so this is the foresight that is given to you out of my love, mercy and kindness.

And so you are the initiated. You have become the knowing ones, My children. You know the reasons and the background of all events on this earth. There are not many people who have this insight, who have this perspective through all levels of falsity and ruin. Knowing all this is also a great responsibility for you. And in the moments when you are supposed to express what you know, I will give you the impulse to speak. You will encounter people who, in their despair, will stray around in time and not know that there is an eternity.

Then you are needed, then you are the apostles whom I send out and have already sent out to serve Me, to offer Me their lives. For that is why you came here, My children. When you once said, 'My Father, I go to this earth, but my life shall be Yours. Therefore, guide me so that this may happen. Guide me so that I may recognise that I have a task on this earth, first and foremost for You and not for myself. At this point you are now.

And now I want you to stand up and repeat after me: 'Heavenly Father, we stand before You as children of Your love. With all our hearts we want to follow You. Be our guide and our love at all times. We want to give you our lives, we want to be yours for eternity, may your love be our life, Jesus, you our everything.

My children, with these words you have once again given yourselves completely to me. With these words you have given me the testimony that you want to serve me in sincerity and truth on this earth. With these words I renew your faith. I give strength and power and truthfulness to your faith. I strengthen your hearts and fill them with My Spirit of love. So be blessed in this time, be blessed always; whatever may come, I am with you and protect you. Your Heavenly Father in Jesus Christ.'

My children, you should be like a family, a large family, this small flock, My small flock – one of My small flocks. Love one another as I love you, stand by one another, give one another the Word when it is possible for you, meet in My name to pray for the people of this earth, so that in many places adversity can still be averted.

And know that when you pray together, whether in a small or large group, a light arises on this earth, a small light that spreads, and from this small light a great flame arises, and that is Me in your midst. And this flame, this flame of love, spreads from the place where you are together, spreading over this country and eventually over the whole earth. And you do not believe it, My children, this light goes out into infinity and touches every entity in this creation.

A small light that burns in your midst thus becomes the flame of salvation for this creation. And so the small and the smallest connects with the greatest, and a unity is formed, the infinity of the inner and the infinity of this creation on the outside find each other again as a unity in my heart.

And that is what I achieve with you, that is my great joy as God, to be, work and redeem with my children.

And so I can tell you: I am a happy God. Regardless of the events on this earth, regardless of the work that still lies ahead of us, the work of redemption that will still take eons, I stand here as a happy father with my children, because you give me your love and your hearts. And so I go from place to place, seeking such love, and hardly find it on this earth; there are only a few who are prepared to love me. Stay together and stick together; together we will achieve great things, together we will enter into this coming time, and beyond that we will stay together in eternity.
